

Torrijos Grabs Back Power In Panama

National Guard Sides With General Against Coup Chiefs

PANAMA (AP) — Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos, deposed as the strong man of Panama, regained power today with the support of loyal officers and troops of the National Guard.

Torrijos, who took over from a civilian regime 14 months ago, was removed from the top command of the National Guard, and thus the nation's leadership, on Monday while he was on a weekend social visit to Mexico City.

But he returned to the city of David in western Panama early today by plane and immediately won the support of the National Guard garrison there.

Colonels Arrested
Then the National Guard in this capital threw its support to him and reliable sources here said this garrison arrested the two colonels who led the coup against Torrijos. Other garrisons around the country fell into line.

Torrijos' arrival in this capital was reported as imminent.

The two leaders of the coup—Col. Ramiro Silvera and Col. Amada Sanjurj—were reported in jail.

A witness said he saw Silvera being taken away from the guard headquarters, handcuffed and under military escort. This followed shooting inside the guard headquarters which broke out about 8:40 a.m.

There were no immediate reports of casualties.

General Staff
An informant said National Guard headquarters was under the command of Lt. Col. Alejandro Arauz, intelligence chief of the guard's general staff.

Troops of the elite Tocumen airport garrison on the outskirts of the city took over the headquarters. Witnesses reported that about five truckloads of troops arrived at headquarters in downtown Panama City just before the shooting started.

The return of Torrijos to power came after businessmen in Panama City took the occasion of his ouster to call for a return to civilian rule.

Nixon Wants Morton in GOP Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced personally today that, at his request, Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland will remain as Republican national chairman, forsaking a possible Senate bid in 1970.

After Nixon spoke to newsmen, Morton plugged Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr., and C. Stanley Blair of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's staff as possible alternative Senate candidates to challenge the Democrat incumbent, Joseph D. Tydings.

Nixon said his decision to ask Morton to remain at the helm of the national committee was "a very close one." But he pictured Morton as one of the most outstanding GOP chairmen ever and said he is needed in the post because "he is presenting a positive picture of the Republican Party across the nation."

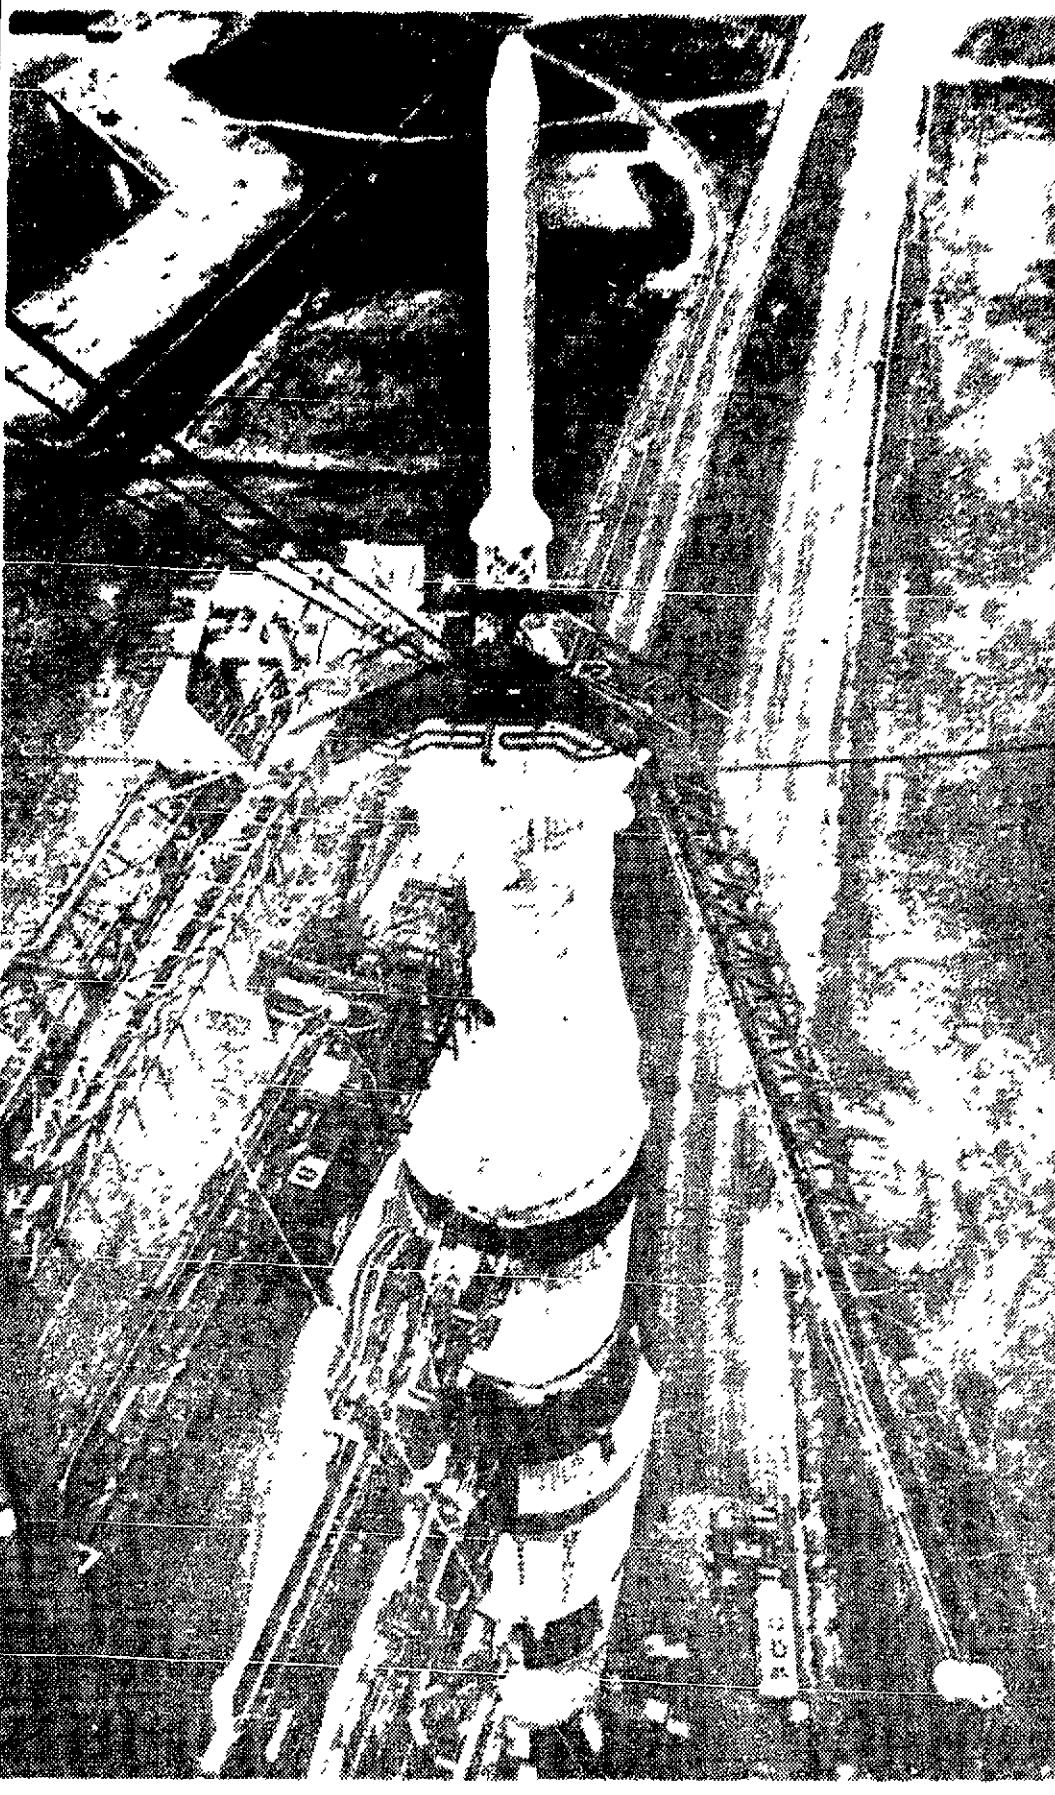

Morton, who had just met with Nixon, said he felt he and the President had independently reached the same conclusion—that he remain as national chairman.

The towering 6-foot-6 Morton said the biggest factor from his standpoint was "my basic commitment to the party and the national committee—and to my district."

Picture Shows My Lai Villagers With Guns

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — A picture of armed women and young boys said to be part of a Viet Cong unit operating out of the My Lai area just before an alleged massacre by U.S. troops was published in today's editions of a Columbus newspaper.

The photograph was released by an Army officer who was with the 11th Infantry Brigade at the time of the alleged massacre and who is now on duty at Ft. Benning, according to the Columbus Enquirer.

The unidentified officer, who gave the picture to the newspaper, said the photograph came from film captured from a Viet Cong base camp near My Lai about two weeks before the March 16, 1968, raid by U.S. Army troops.

The photograph was published on the day of a scheduled pre-trial hearing in the case of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who has been charged by the Army with the premeditated murder of 110 Vietnam civilians—109 of them at My Lai.

Lt. Col. Reid Kennedy, a military judge who will preside over the trial of Calley, called today's hearing to determine whether his order prohibiting witnesses from discussing the

Hanoi Delegate Denounces Talk

PARIS (AP) — A spokesman for the North Vietnam delegation at the Paris peace talks said today President Nixon's announcement of the withdrawal of an additional 50,000 troops from Vietnam only proved that the United States intends to continue the war.

The spokesman said "the statement made by Mr. Nixon Dec. 15, 1969 proves once again that his administration still refuses to stop the war of aggression in Vietnam, to totally and rapidly withdraw all the American troops and those of foreign countries of the American camp in South Vietnam without posing any conditions, or to renounce the Thieu-Ky-Khiem administration, a traitorous, warlike and corrupt administration created by the United States."

He added that the plan for Vietnamization of the war effort was destined only to "prolong the war of aggression and realize American neocolonialism in Vietnam."

and later as a staff officer—said the photograph was developed by brigade public information officers.

Intelligence Officers
He said copies were given to intelligence officers, who later identified some members of the Viet Cong unit, with the help of a South Vietnamese government agent.

Fair Trial
Attorneys on both sides of the case have protested that news media coverage of reports concerning the My Lai incident have made it impossible for Calley to receive a fair trial, but the U.S. Court of Military Appeals declined to ban interviews with witnesses or publication of photographs of the My Lai area.

50,000 Troops Being Withdrawn

Cut Over 4-Month Period

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is pulling out another 50,000 troops from South Vietnam but over a longer period than he allowed for previous withdrawals, evidently because of the growing possibility of a major new enemy offensive.

Nixon announced his third cutback in a television speech Monday night. He set April 15, four months from now, as the deadline for removing the 50,000. For his two previous withdrawals he had allowed about three months each.

The President couched his announcement with a renewed warning to North Vietnam that he will take "strong and effective measures" if he finds that "increased enemy action jeopardizes our remaining forces in Vietnam."

Optimistic

At the same time he said he had received "cautiously optimistic" reports from observers and from U. S. civilian and military leaders in Vietnam. He quoted from a report made to him by one observer, Sir Robert Thompson, a British veteran of anti-Communist warfare in Southeast Asia, who was, Nixon said, earlier pessimistic about the conduct of the war.

"A winning position in the sense of obtaining a just peace (whether negotiated or not) and of maintaining an independent, non-Communist South Vietnam has been achieved but we are not yet through," Nixon quoted Thompson as saying.

Thompson recommended carrying on a "do it yourself" policy for South Vietnam with "continuing U. S. support in the background." The recommendation is in line with Nixon's stated policy.

Winning Position

Nixon did not say he agrees that a "winning position" has been achieved. But White House officials did not quarrel with the assessment.

Nixon said, however, "there is one disturbing new element in the situation."

"Enemy infiltration has increased substantially. It has not yet reached the point where our military leaders believe the enemy has developed the capability to mount a major offensive, but we are watching the situation closely to see whether it could develop to that extent."

His choice of an April 15 target date to complete the new troop withdrawal, officials said, gives him more flexibility to assess—and if necessary adjust to—a Communist offensive and still meet his withdrawal deadline. His advisers believe that if North Vietnam launches an offensive it will come in the January-March period.

Take Risks

"There are some who believe," Nixon said, "that to continue our withdrawals at a time when enemy infiltration is increasing is a risk we should not take. However, I have consistently said that we must take risks for peace."

"And in that connection," he continued, "let me remind the leaders in Hanoi that if infiltration and the level of enemy activity increase while we are reducing our forces, they also will be running a risk."

He then repeated the warning he had given in his Nov. 3 speech on Vietnam "I shall not hesitate to take strong and effective measures to deal with that situation."

Last June Nixon started the troop withdrawal program with an announcement of the removal of 25,000 men by the end of August.

In September he said another 35,000 would come out by Dec. 15. Both rounds have been completed. By April 15 the third round should bring the total removals to 110,000.

To 432,000

The actual troop level when Nixon made his first announcement was 542,500 men, which will be reduced to 432,500 by April 15.

In his broadcast Monday night Nixon used a slightly different set of figures based on maximum authorized strength. That is normally somewhat higher than actual strength, White House officials said.

The ceiling figure when he took office was 549,500. He said with his new order that ceiling "has now been reduced by 115,500 men," indicating the cuts in authorized strength total about 5,500 more men than withdrawals based on real strength.

Nixon called the new reduction in force "another orderly step in our plan for peace in Vietnam."

Burden of Combat

He said he had consulted with U. S. allies in Vietnam before ordering it. In Saigon President Nguyen Van Thieu said it is in

Death at an Early Age

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Vandermeer was an alcoholic at 10, a heroin addict at 11, and dead at 12, the youngest drug death in the city's history.

He's just a child, a real kid," Dr. Michael Baden, assistant medical examiner for the city, said Monday.

One of 10 children, Walter was expelled from school two years ago. He was supposed to go to a school for troubled youngsters but didn't.

Baden said the boy claimed he sold newspapers in Harlem and delivered groceries for the $85 or so he earned each week.

After he performed an autopsy, Baden said the boy apparently died about 1 or 2 a.m. Sunday while "shooting up" in the common bathroom of a four-story tenement on Harlem's West 117th Street.

He was discovered 14 hours later, Baden said, surrounded by a "set of works"—needle, bottle top and two empty heroin packets. He was wearing a Snooky sweatshirt. "Watch out for me, I want to bite someone to release my tension," was written across its back.

Walter lived with his mother and sister a block away from where his body was found.

Baden said that in investigating the death he had talked with several of Walter's 10- and 11-year-old friends, all of whom "knew he was taking heroin."

"They were pretty unperturbed," Baden said.

"Knowing they will die doesn't prevent them from using heroin," the doctor said. "It's not a logical thing. Part of shooting heroin is that it is a virile thing to do, risking death is virile, the forbidden thing is attractive."

He said children like this are not normal or healthy, that even if there were no heroin, they would still be antisocial.

"It isn't just poverty or legal enforcement," Baden said. "Some people are mentally ill. The white guys like this end up in hippie communes."

One-quarter of the city's 800 heroin deaths this year have been teen-agers, Baden said. "Of these more than 50 were 16 or younger," Walter was the youngest by far.

Children are using heroin "like marijuana because of peer-group pressure," Baden said. "In the past six months we have had a tremendous increase."

10 Per Cent Cut in Draft Quota Announced by Laird

said today that draft calls will be reduced next year about 10 per cent because of President Nixon's "Vietnamization" program.

Nixon's decision to withdraw another 50,000 men from Vietnam by mid-April.

Laird told a news conference Monday night, Laird disclosed that Nixon had instructed a reduction from the planned draft of about 250,000 men next year will be possible because him to go to Vietnam the first of the total strength of U.S. armed week in February to "assess the forces will be reduced by virtually all of 50,000 being withdrawn."

of our forces" and to size up the enemy's military capability and infiltration.

Get Period

The defense chief acknowledged his visit will come just about in the critical Tet period which in the past has seen major enemy offensives, including the great country-wide assault of early 1968.

Laird said that, on the basis of present infiltration rates, and a 40,000 man drop in enemy strength, he does not regard the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong as able to mount a sustained offensive at this time.

Asked about other enemy forces grouped outside of South Vietnam, in Cambodia and Laos, Laird said "I rule out the possibility they could move" these elements into South Vietnam's III Corps and IV corps in time to be ready for an offensive soon.

However, he obviously was not dismissing the possibility of an offensive by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in the coming Tet period about two months from now.

After Get

He made it plain that the bulk of the 50,000 men being pulled out under Nixon's latest decision will leave after the Tet period, an apparent precaution.

Laird said enemy infiltration is higher than in past weeks, but is still substantially below 1968. He attributed the 40,000-man drop in enemy strength from last year chiefly to battlefield casualties.

The Pentagon said in September that enemy strength, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, totals about 240,000.

Vietnam Force Being Cut Back

"This troop replacement also lies within the framework of the troop replacements for 1970," he said.

The White House said in spite of the threat of increased enemy activity, the planned withdrawal is expected to proceed as announced. Nixon can, however, slow it down if he finds evidence of a massive North Vietnamese troop buildup, and if signs of a coming offensive multiply.

One official estimated that, according to reports from the field infiltration is running five to 10 times the flow of troops from North to South Vietnam two or three months ago.

That indicates a level of perhaps 10,000 to 20,000 men a month.

But the official said the movement also seems to be sporadic and it is not clear whether the new forces are intended as replacements for below-strength enemy units or whether a big new build up is underway.

The administration officials said several months ago North Vietnamese strength in the South was down about 30,000 men to high casualties and low infiltration.

Nixon based his third withdrawal order on the ability of South Vietnamese forces to take over the war from U. S. forces. One of his three criteria for such decisions has been a low-level of enemy action, which is now uncertain; the other has been progress in the Paris peace talks and on that point he reported "no progress whatever."

He appealed to the North Vietnamese for negotiations.

Dream of Victory
"Hanoi should abandon its dream of military victory," he said. "It is time for them to join us in serious negotiations. There is nothing to be gained by delay. If Hanoi is willing to talk seriously they will find us flexible and forthcoming."

The President also strongly indicated that until he has word that Hanoi is ready for serious negotiations he will not replace Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who recently resigned as his top negotiator in Paris.

Nixon said he had designated

1,300 POWs House Protests Treatment of U.S. Servicemen Held in North Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has lodged a protest against treatment of U.S. servicemen held prisoners of war by North Vietnam.

And, the Red Cross has called upon millions of Americans to send Christmas cards to the president of North Vietnam in an appeal for proper treatment and release of U.S. POWs.

These developments Monday focused attention on the estimated 1,300 American soldiers held prisoners in the Vietnam war.

The House approved 405-0 a resolution saying that Hanoi and the Viet Cong have violated requirements of the 1949 Geneva convention governing treatment of POWs. The resolution went to the Senate.

Prisoners Identify
It said they have refused to identify the prisoners they hold, allow impartial inspection of camps, permit free exchange of mail, release sick and injured prisoners and negotiate seriously for the release of all prisoners.

The Red Cross said it plans to place public service advertisements urging Americans to "send a Christmas card to enemy this year." Officials said they hope for genuinely spontaneous cards, not form letters or cellophane cards.

Campus Violence Provision Added to College Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee has amended a $20 billion money bill to permit a cutoff of federal funds to colleges that fail to control campus violence.

The committee, after adopting the amendment Monday, put off in its present form until today acting on a controversial provision in the House-passed bill that would curtail the government's power to compel school desegregation.

Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., author of the aid cutoff amendment, said it is intended "to wake up the trustees, administration and faculty to the fact they might lose some of their financial support if they don't keep their houses in order."

Jeopardize Progress
Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch wrote the Senate committee that approval of the House bill "could seriously jeopardize the substantial progress made in school desegregation."

As passed by the House, the bill would appropriate $16.6 billion for Finch's department, the Labor Department, and a number of related agencies. But the Senate committee boosted the total by about $3.7 billion.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., told reporters the bulk of the increase came from items not considered by the House — about $2 billion for the Office of Economic Opportunity and $1.2 billion in advance funding of elementary and secondary school aid for the 1971 fiscal year.

Equal Division
He said increases over other parts of the House-passed measure totaled close to $500 million — about equally divided between education and health programs.

The Senate took the unusual step Monday night of making the money measure the pending business for today's session, even though it had not been reported out of the Appropriations Committee.

Cotton said his amendment was approved by the committee after he watered it down somewhat from its original version.

As explained by Cotton, the amendment provides that HEW may request an institution hit by campus disruptions in which offenders weren't punished or orders.

Backers Hopeful
Tax Reform Might be Settled by Christmas

By EDMOND LeBRETON Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Handlers of the big tax reform bill, after seeing progress made in composing House-Senate differences on one major issue and scores of minor ones, held out hope today for a law on the books by Christmas.

A 15 per cent increase in Social Security benefits was nailed Monday when the House passed 387-0, separate legislation providing such a boost.

The Senate has included a similar but broader provision in its general tax reform bill.

The big issue to be resolved is an additional Senate provision making a special increase in the minimum payment—from $55 to $100. This makes the Senate version cost about $6.4 billion a year, $2 billion more than the House measure.

The conference committee handling the Senate-House tax reform versions has yet to consider the other issue which brought veto threats from President Nixon—a increase from $600 to $800 in the personal income tax exemption staged in 1970.

There have been suggestions the conference might agree on a modified version, combined with tax rate reductions and taking effect later.

But Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member of the House delegation, told newsmen he has doubts about writing future tax reductions into present legislation.

"We might be creating a miscalculation," he said. "It seems to me it would be sounder to wait and see if we can afford a tax reduction in a year, we could vote one—otherwise, we might disappoint the American people."

Detailed Provisions
Most of the compromises reached by the conference committee in its first session, which lasted well after dark Monday, apparently were on detailed provisions for stricter regulation of private foundations given tax exemption.

Indications were that the conference, which meets in closed session, had not reached final agreement on the controversial issue of taxing foundation income.

The House version ultimately would cost foundations, which would pay no tax, about $100 million a year. The Senate version would levy a total of about $30 million.

Nixon to be Faced With Hard Choice On Tax Reform Bill

BY ROLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Congressional tax-writers are set to meet with President Nixon's veto threat against a tax bill with necessary. But nobody in Congress — certainly not Mills — was prepared for Nixon's uncharacteristically blunt president with a dilemma of grave dimensions — partly political, partly economic.

The immediate source of Nixon's problem is his unusually explicit press conference statement Dec. 8, an unpleasant surprise to Capitol Hill, that he would veto a tax reform bill containing two costly Senate amendments: a 15 per cent hike in Social Security payments and an increase in the present $600 personal income tax exemption to $800. Choosing not to believe the President's threat, the Senate-House conference now writing the final version of the bill is determined to approve something close to the blacklisted provisions.

If the tax conference meets its difficult timetable of a finished product by Friday, Nixon will have a cheerless Yuletide choice. He can sign the bill only by sacrificing the credibility of both his own word and his commitment against inflation. But because the bill's extension of the surtax and repeal of the investment credit produces more money than it loses in the short run, a veto might do more economic harm than good.

This dilemma merely illuminates one of the least understood economic facts in Washington: the Nixon administration has lost control of the fiscal situation. Whatever Nixon finally does about the tax bill, the Federal government unwillingly will be pouring out more consumer money to fuel the fires of inflation.

Actually, before the Dec. 8 press conference, the President had been criticized for not speaking out in behalf of fiscal responsibility. Treasury officials wanted Nixon to publicly urge restraint on the tax bill. A budget surplus for the current similar request was made by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, foremost Congressional tax-writer and chairman of the Senate-House conference.

The President's new hard line on anti-tax sentiment in the country is so intense that such a proposal would face instant death in Congress. Thus President Nixon is trapped: his strong words a week ago struck the right note, but they came so late that they helped to set the trap.

How Much Protest Can We Tolerate?

The seven to six split on the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence concerning the effects and wisdom of massive demonstrations of civil disobedience undoubtedly reflects the same sort of split throughout the country. Whether or not to try to effect changes in unjust laws and policies through the established court means alone is really the distinction between the majority and minority opinions.

The commission was unanimous in condemning violent demonstrations. It also unanimously agreed that some of the demonstrations have unleashed "the political power of some of the most destructive elements in American society." But the majority report stressed that there should be no demonstrations against laws or policies while test cases were being conducted through the courts. This was unacceptable to the minority, including Chairman Milton Eisenhower. The dissidents insisted that the civil rights legislation enacted in the last decade never would have come about without the boycotting of buses, restaurant sit-ins and peaceful marches in the South.

It seems likely that the minority is quite right in this respect. What is in doubt is when in history a policy such as non-violent demonstrations becomes outmoded as far as the means of seeking reforms are concerned. As the majority opinion put it, "every time a court order is disobeyed, each time an injunction is violated, each occasion on which a court decision is flouted, the effectiveness of our judicial system is eroded. How much erosion can be tolerated?"

The tolerance of demonstrations has to some extent meant their expansion even into junior high schools. Possibly this may, as the majority opinion insisted, lead to "nationwide disobedience of many laws and thus anarchy." But how else could

Where Has the Wolf Whistle Gone?

Persons who love a good argument (in the neutral sense of the term) might well sink their teeth into this question after deciding how to solve the problems of Vietnam and racial discrimination: Is it permissible to whistle at a young lady in appreciation of her beauty?

The good wolf whistle is something which must be practiced and developed by its possessor before it can be employed effectively to express a musical compliment. Nothing sounds punier than a whistle at an attractive woman which falls flat.

It seems that this type of vocal expression by the American male is falling into disuse. Perhaps it is because of the fact that long hair being worn by some

Time for Another Tea Party?

Editor, The Post-Crescent: On this day in 1773 a band of colonists dumped 342 chests of tea into the Boston Harbor. They were dressed as Indians and these revolutionaries had conspired to destroy a small part of an oppressive power structure. This was the Boston Tea Party.

These people had been oppressed and exploited by a power structure. They were being ruled by a group in which they had no representation. Their manpower was being used for the sole benefit of the power structure. Their money was being taken away in the form of taxes and as an exploited consumer market. Great Britain was doing evil to the colonies.

These people in the following years fought a war for freedom. These people won that war. Two beautiful documents were written during that period of time. They were called the Declaration of Independence and the United States Constitution.

Today in this "free" country which is still backed up by those two documents, there is evil. There is a power structure and it is oppressing and exploiting the middle and especially the lower class. Racial minorities live in areas that are ruled by white governments, and their streets are patrolled by white police, all working for the white man's wish. People are being conscripted into an army to fight a war the power structure wants to fight. The tax money which is paid mostly by the poor does not go back to the people but is used for financing foreign wars, oil depletions, airline subsidies, elite universities and urban renewal. The people are forced to support a power structure that keeps them in chains. The power structure is doing evil to the people of this country.

There is a need for history to repeat itself. This problem

Democratic Party Really Sick; Needs Psychiatrist, Not Surgeon

BY JOHN P. ROCHE

The poor old Democratic Party is in worse shape today than it has been in some time — since perhaps 1956. When the Republicans have problems — as they did in 1964 — there is always a good simple remedy. But the Democrats, alas, are not so easily doctored: too many of their troubles are, as my father would have put it, "in the head." The G.O.P. can go out and get a few stitches — the Democrats need a psychiatrist.

Take the cross pressures at work on, say, Hubert Humphrey, or Ed Muskie, or Fred Harris. A tremendously articulate constituency is at work on them day and night telling them that unless the Party makes Vietnam THE issue, and comes out for instant withdrawal, the Democrats are through. These are mostly fine sincere people. Though the Communist Party and other sects have undoubtedly played an important organizational role in the anti-war movement, the great majority of the protesters are there on their own. (Unfortunately, the Attorney General does not seem to understand that these two propositions are not inconsistent.)

Roche is Baffled

I admit that I am fundamentally baffled by the wildly irrational response to 200? The key section of the resolution reads that the Senate "affirms its support for the President in his efforts to negotiate a just peace in Vietnam, expresses the earnest hope of the (American) people . . . for such a peace . . . approves and supports the principles . . . that the people of South Vietnam are entitled to choose their own government by means of free elections . . . and that the U. S. is willing to abide by the results of such elections and requests the President to call upon (Hanoi) to join in a proclamation of a mutual cease fire and to announce its willingness to honor such elections and abide by the results . . ."

Point of No Return

Regrettably, opposition to this resolution can only be founded on one premise: A.D.A. has a vested interest in an American catastrophe in Vietnam. Having predicted disaster so long and stridently (National Chairman John K. Galbraith, for example, announced shortly after the Tet offensive in 1968 that the Saigon government would collapse in two weeks!), A.D.A. has reached the point of no return.

But what sense can this position make to a liberal politician? In immediate terms, he knows that if things go well in Vietnam, Nixon wins — and if they go badly, the liberals (who got us there) lose. In broader terms, however, the impact of liberal catastrophe politics would be a long-run disaster — if the American people ever get it through their heads that liberal Democrats are rooting for an American defeat in Southeast Asia, we will be through politically for the rest of the century.

Humphrey, of course, knows this — it helps to account for his occasionally schizophrenic political behavior. As chief psychiatrist of the Democratic Party — a fearful job — he deserves considerably more sympathy and understanding than he has received.

Vietnam in intellectual circles, but there it is. So we have a situation where leading academic and cultural figures — who will always get press and media coverage — are socking it to Humphrey, Muskie, Harris, et al. And they can not be dismissed automatically as "commies," "dupes," or just fanatics. Many of them have worked hard and loyally in past campaigns. And, I repeat (despite the fact that some of the scars on my back ache) they are fundamentally decent people, driven by a deep concern for American national interest as they see it.

I, for example, spent 21 years as a member of Americans for Democratic Action — three years as National Chairman. Throughout that period A.D.A. was the nesting place of Cold War liberals, a designation that I am proud to accept though it has recently become a term of abuse. Hubert Humphrey is also a former National Chairman of A.D.A. — and even though we left the organization — many personal ties and warm memories of past campaigns remain.

But, even making personal allowances, what can one make of an A.D.A. decision to oppose Senate Resolution No.

Legislature Earned Reputation as Miser; It's Hardly Justified

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Perhaps the most frustrating fact about his experience this year to many a member of the Republican legislature majority is that a substantial slice of his constituents believes him to be a skinflint, while most of the rest of them are discontented because he played a role in authorizing the largest ratio of increase in state budget spending and taxing of any legislature on record.

Wyngaard

Contemplating the record and the public reaction to that record, it would not be surprising if that typical member of the majority now had second thoughts about rebelling against the original recommendations of Gov. Knowles when he presented his budget.

$300 Million Hike

Consider these things: The general fund expenditure allowances thus far authorized have risen to $1.555 billion, or nearly $300 million above the total for the last biennium.

No one can be sure that the expenditures thus far voted will be the aggregate of the session. The legislature is returning soon. Appropriation bills remain on the calendars. Some of them will be heavily pushed. The rule is that the longer a legislature sits, the more it spends. There is not only no assurance that the total expenditure for the biennium has been reached. The preponderance of opinion is that spending will be pushed up somewhat more.

That $1.555 billion total, moreover, contrasts with a figure of $1.585 billion recommended in his budget message by Gov. Knowles last spring, or a difference of $30 million. That is not a small sum, standing alone. But in the perspective of the state budget argument, it appears astonishingly modest. It is something like a difference of about two per cent.

Close to Request

Months ago a Republican party official in a letter to this department predicted that when the full record of the 1969 legislature had been completed, it would be "surprisingly" close, in fiscal terms, to the wish of the governor. It now appears that he will turn out to be a brilliant prophet.

Yet the image of this legislature is that of a collection of misers. The strident protests of the welfare workers, the welfare recipients, the historic takeover of the Capitol by Father Groppi and his militants, the publicity about "meat-axe" budget cuts, the emphasis upon the speeches and the attitudes of the conservatives in the legislature, have quite obscured the fiscal facts of the situation.

The spending aspirations of many agencies and services were denied to some degree. But no legislature that ever sat granted all the money that was demanded of it. The picture of niggardliness relates to the problems of the poor, and more particularly, that fraction of the poor that is on the public assistance rolls. The legislature cut back some of the relief appropriation requests, and notably the program of aid for families with dependent children.

Some Federal Money

Some of that money required was federal money. Some of the money "saved" will be transferred as a liability to local governments, in the form of property taxes. State officials say that the amount of state funds thus conserved amount to one penny for each dollar of the State Department of Health and Public Services budget — surely not a startling achievement in the face of the nearly harsh clamor of protest that greeted it.

While there has been less publicity about it, the legislature is keenly aware that the taxpaying community is resentful about the largest boosts in state taxes in modern times.

And there is the irony. The legislature stands in defiance of Gov. Knowles on the issue of finance, but it has not persuaded the restive taxpayer that it is his friend, while it has convinced the liberals and public service dependents that it is an aggregation of Scrooges.

Males Need to Dress in Brighter Colors

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The recent blossoming of those bright-tone shirts and wild-looking ties for men represents a real need for romanticism on the part of the male animal.

A few weeks ago, I acted as a commentator for a charity affair called "A Night in Paris." For the party, I dressed as a Parisian boulevardier — complete with beret, walking stick, and jaunty Ascot tie knotted at the throat.

At first I felt a trifle odd in this strange regalia, but after a few minutes I began hugely to enjoy my unaccustomed role. And by evening's end, I felt as dashing and romantic as Chevalier in his "Love Parade" era.

It is only in the last century or so that the male has subdued his costumes — and his ego along with it. Until the Industrial Revolution, it was men's clothes that took the spotlight at social functions: the cape, the ruff, the elegant cocked hat trimmed with braid.

In the rest of the animal kingdom, it is invariably the male who wears the adornments. The peahen is a drab creature; the lioness lacks a luxurious mane; the female of every species was designed to be dazzled and beguiled by the splendor of her suitors.

Until recently, only men of dubious virility dared to attire themselves in fine fabrics, rich colors and bejeweled trimmings. The uniform of the average male purposely subdued all individuality; each man has wanted to look as much like the next as possible, being deathly afraid of giving an impression of dandyism, or worse.

This may have satisfied our instinct for conformity, but at the same time it frustrated our secret desire for distinction and dash. A man likes to feel himself something of a gay dog. So many opportunities for adventure have vanished from modern life, that most men either resign themselves to dullness or seek vicarious outlets in liquor or licentiousness.

The extravagantly colored shirt and the bold tie have become the symbols of rebellion, of man's challenging the woman's right to plunge him into sartorial oblivion. He feels, I think, that much of his manhood has already been repressed; and only a last-ditch stand can save him from being stereotyped in the role of a perpetual drone until he dies.

Utility's Part
Of State Taxes
Above Budget

Appleton's share of state taxes paid by local utilities has exceeded expectations by $69,071.99, according to Treasurer Ray Feuerstein.

The city had counted on receiving $308,658, but checks received Friday from State Treasurer Harold W. Clemens totaled $457,729.99, Feuerstein said Monday.

The increase reflects growth during the past year in utilities operating in the city.

The payment includes $419,642.72 paid from utilities in the Outagamie County portion of the city, $37,632.94 in Calumet County and $454.33 in Winnebago County.

Feuerstein said that in 1968 the city received $346,407.

The increase was expected, state tax officials having advised Finance Director David Champion of sums he could expect. The increases were considered in preparing the city's 1970 budget.

Yule Concert
Set at UW Center

The annual Christmas concert at the Fox Valley Campus is scheduled for 8 p.m. next Sunday in the campus Fine Arts Theatre. Admission is free.

Franklin W. Doverspike, director, has called the performance "A Celebration of Carols and Holiday Music" because the formal concert will be followed by an informal sing-in of carols.

The chorus, 38 student, faculty and community voices, will support soloists Joan Waldo of Neenah and Sue Noffke of Appleton.

The Metro-Gnomes, a male quartet that appeared in the musical "Wonderful Town" at the campus last march, will also sing. They are Bob Thiel, Jerry Ellefson and Will Mackin of Appleton, and Gary Thiel of Milwaukee.

Kenneth Anderson, Fox Valley instructor and director of Riverside Players in Neenah, will read Dylan Thomas' "A Child's Christmas in Wales".

The Fox Valley Student Government Association will host the carol sing-in in the campus cafeteria following the concert. Refreshments will be served.

Your Car
Taming Slippery Roads

BY EUGENE B. MILMOE
When roads are spotted with ice or blanketed with hard-packed snow, how do you rate as a driver?

Skill in maneuvering on slick roads is largely a case of sensible driving practices. No matter how good you are behind the wheel, keep these guides in mind when the going is dangerous. The faster you drive, the easier it is to go into a skid and the harder it is to get out of one. Avoid sharp cornering and cutting from one lane to another. Don't swerve quickly to avoid small potholes, bumps, glass and so on or to pass a car which may be moving too slowly for your timetable.

If the car does go into a skid, never hit the brakes. Get off the gas pedal, steer in the direction of the skid and let the engine gradually kill car speed. And, of course, watch out for the other guy — stay alert, ready to act in case he starts skidding.

Stay Away
Finally, don't venture out on icy roads if your car isn't equipped with deep-tread snow tires that can cope with winter's dangers.

Q A friend who drove my car last week says there's too much play in the steering wheel. How much is too much? — G. F.

A — More than three inches can indicate serious wear or looseness.

Q — With my '68, I've always averaged about 15 miles per gallon, but over the past few months, there's been a gradual drop to about 12 m.p.g. Would this be caused by a carburetor defect or an ignition defect? — H. T.

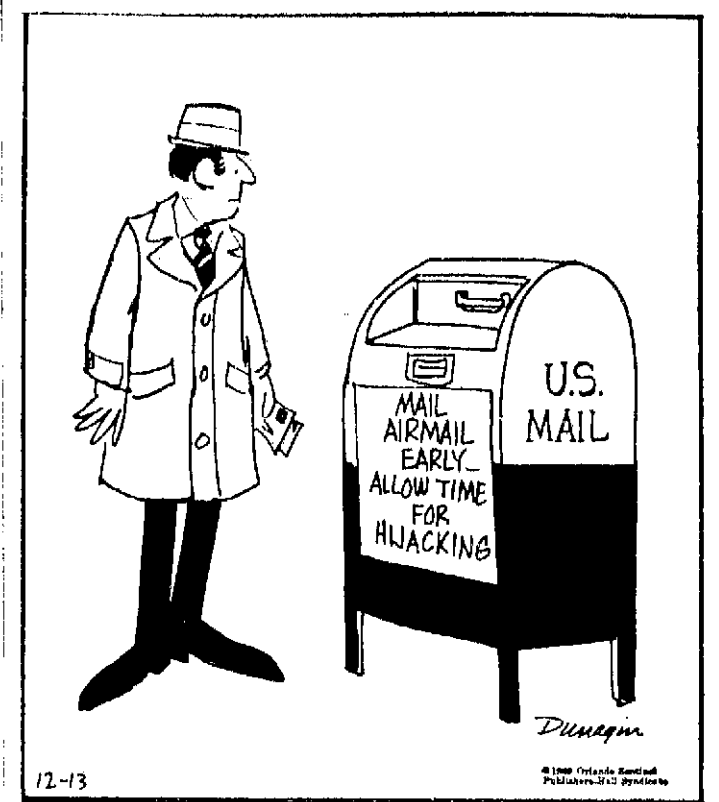

A — Either or both. For example, if only spark plugs need cleaning, regapping or replacement, you can lose 3 m.p.g.

Q — Permanent antifreeze now includes a leak sealer. Doesn't this bear out the old belief that antifreeze causes radiator leaks? — T. H.

A — Not at all. This is precaution — like the sealer that's added when you drain and refill with water in the spring. Leaks show up more readily with antifreeze because

Senate Okays Defense Budget of $70 Billion

By JOHN LENGEL
ASSOCIATED Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved nearly $70 billion for defense, turning aside a last thrust by Safeguard opponents, and banning funds for any U.S. combat troops in Thailand and Laos.

Approved 85-4, the Senate's version setting defense appropriations at $69.3 billion was some $5 billion less than asked by the Pentagon. The House has approved $70 billion. An additional $2 billion for military housing and construction will be covered in other legislation.

Waste of Funds

Senate galleries were cleared and chamber doors bolted Monday for debate that led to a ban on using money for "introduction of American ground troops in Laos and Thailand." The vote on this amendment was 73-17 after two hours of secret discussion, only the fifth time since World War II the chamber has been closed.

In the Safeguard debate Republican, Margaret Chase Smith of Maine said, "I am all the more convinced that spending for ABM is a tragic waste of funds and resources." Her amendment to strike out nearly all the $779.4 million for the first phase of Safeguard was defeated 49 to 36.

Oregon Republican Mark Hatfield said the Pentagon has told him the cost for the first phase of ABM had increased $277 million just since last summer.

At this rate of overrun, Hatfield said, the first phase—deployment at two sites only—would reach $13.7 billion by 1976 instead of the $4.18 billion estimated by the Pentagon.

Support of Forces

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, sponsored the restriction on ground troops finally accepted by the Senate.

The appropriations bill provides $2.2 billion for support of local forces in Vietnam, our allies there, and support for local forces in Laos and Thailand.

No breakdown is provided in the bill, but its floor manager, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., told Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., about $90 million went to the two Vietnam neighbors. It was explained this amount was an increase of 16.7 per cent over last year.

The debate turned to what effect the appropriation would have on U.S. air attacks on the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos. Democratic Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said it was a moot question whether the funding would affect what he estimated as more than 100 sorties flown per day in direct support of laotian forces.

Secret Session

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., suggested that classified material was being discussed and Mansfield moved for the secret session.

The administration has said there are no U.S. ground troops in either Laos or Thailand. And the administration has refused comment either way on continual reports of U.S. airpower supporting Royal Laotian troops against guerrillas and an estimated 50,000 North Vietnamese troops.

"I voice my apprehension over continuing administration silence over policy in Laos, where our military involvement appears to be growing rather than declining," Fulbright told the Senate behind closed doors. His statement was later released to newsmen.

A Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee has been conducting an investigation into U.S. military involvement in Laos. The subcommittee hearing transcript has been so heavily censored by the administration, Fulbright says, that it would be "misleading" to publish what's left.

Casualties of War Poor Care Cited For Mentally Ill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mental casualties of the Vietnam war are being "chemically lobotomized" by substitution of tranquilizing drugs for proper psychiatric care at Veterans Administration hospitals, Congress has been told.

"You can see such men at any mental hospital," Dr. Louis Jolyn West, medical director of the University of California at Los Angeles Neuropsychiatric Institute, said Monday.

But his testimony before a Senate veterans affairs subcommittee concentrated on VA institutions:

Lobotomy Abandoned

"We have abandoned the practice of lobotomy," West said, "but we are chemically lobotomizing thousands and thousands of patients, and we can keep it up for years."

Lobotomy, a form of brain surgery, has been used in the past to make mental patients docile.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., is probing treatment of mentally and physically wounded veterans.

West described some mental patients at Brentwood Veterans Administration Hospital in Los Angeles:

They are easy to identify because the drugs used make them move slowly and stiffly. They walk around in a chemical cocoon, men with an invisible barrier between them and the rest of the world."

Low Level

He said the hospital is operating "at a level that is mostly at, or even below, the level of 20 to 25 years ago."

Veterans Administration neuropsychiatric hospitals provide only one psychiatrist for every 535 patients—due mainly to low salaries and poor working conditions, West said.

Because there simply are too few psychiatrists to provide mentally ill veterans with proper care, the patients are given heavier and heavier doses of tranquilizers to keep them quiet, he said.

"A man can go on for years that way," he said. "That is not high quality care but only a substitute for it."

Psychiatric Consultant

West is psychiatric consultant to Brentwood. Describing conditions there, which he contended are typical of institutions throughout the country, he said:

"The physical plant and facilities have not been properly improved. Air conditioning, standard in all modern hospitals in the area, has not been provided."

"While the previous overcrowding has diminished, certain patient areas are still too crowded, and sanitary facilities are inadequate by current standards. Treatment and testing facilities are inadequate."

"Staffing levels, especially for physicians, are low. A number of positions lie vacant. VA salaries are simply not competitive," he said.

Soldier From Oshkosh Dies While in Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon Monday listed another Wisconsin soldier as having died in Vietnam.

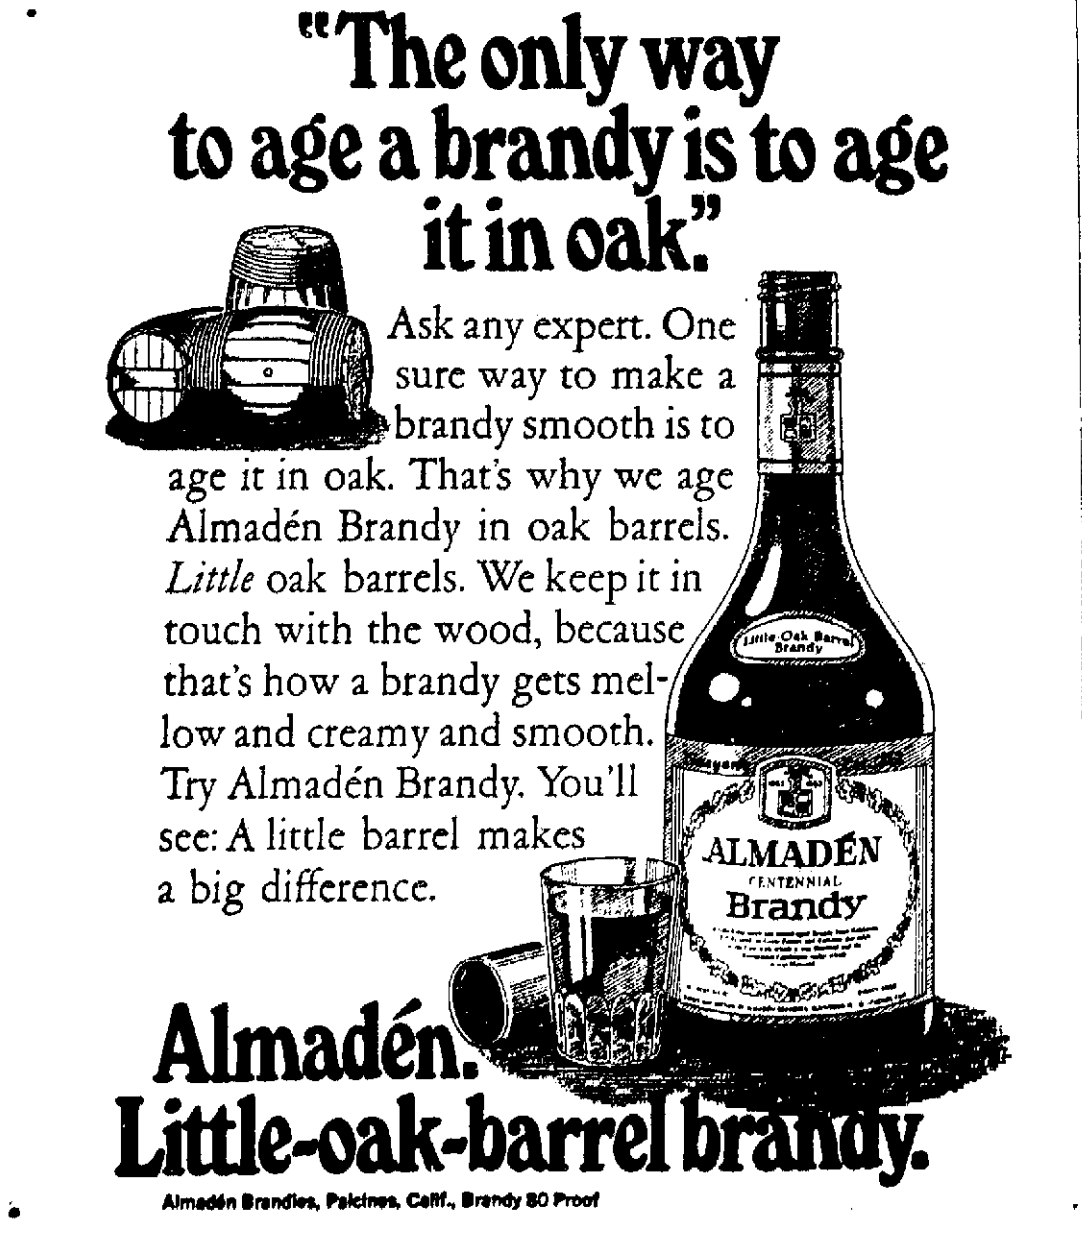

He was Army Spec. 4 Robert R. Almers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger G. Almers of Oshkosh. He was listed as having died not as a result of hostile action.

"The only way to age a brandy is to age it in oak."

Ask any expert. One sure way to make a brandy smooth is to age it in oak. That's why we age Almadén Brandy in oak barrels. Little oak barrels. We keep it in touch with the wood, because that's how a brandy gets mellow and creamy and smooth. Try Almadén Brandy. You'll see: A little barrel makes a big difference.

Cargo Capacity Gigantic Huge Oil Spills Possible With Tankers

NEW YORK (AP) — The era of the supertanker has brought with it the threat of catastrophic oil spills.

This was pointed up when the 207,000-ton Marpessa owned by Shell Tankers Ltd. exploded and sank Monday 80 miles off the coast of West Africa after making its first oil delivery.

While the Marpessa had unloaded its cargo at Rotterdam and was empty, the sinking sent shivers through the oil industry, which is working to develop means of preventing and controlling oil spills.

"There would have been a hell of a lot of oil on the coast of Africa if the Marpessa had been loaded," said a delegate to an international conference on prevention and control of oil slicks which is under way here.

"We all recognize that present technology for handling large spills—especially in the open sea—is, to say the least, primitive," L.P. Haxby, manager for air and water conservation of Shell Development Co., told the conference.

"Perhaps the most effective technique used to date was to spread straw as an absorbent and pick it up with rakes and pitchforks as was done in Santa Barbara, Calif. In an age when we can reach the moon, we should be able to do better than this."

K.E. Biglane, a divisional director in the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, said Monday that after "nearly three years since the Torrey Canyon casualty, this nation—and I suspect this is true worldwide—still cannot mount sufficient technical or operational responses to positively control large spills of oil . . ."

Cooperatives Formed

Haxby said oil and shipping companies have formed about 150 cooperatives to plan for handling oil spills, hoping to use such equipment as floating booms to contain the oil, chemical sprays and pumps.

Apart from the cleaning up after a major oil spill, there is the matter of prevention.

Changes in ship design are under study.

"The continued use of single skin construction for barges and ships is seriously questioned," said Cmdr. Alvert G. Stirling of the U.S. Coast Guard. In the single skin design the outside hull forms the tank that holds the oil in. A rupture of the hull leads to spillage.

Increasing Numbers

The number of supertankers has increased substantially since 1968. The need for vessels of their size to carry oil throughout the world increased after the Suez Canal was closed during the 1966 Israeli-Arab war.

The American Bureau of Shipping reports there are now 180 tankers with a carrying capacity of 100,000 tons or more in service, compared with about 55 before 1968.

Only one of these vessels carries the U.S. flag—Humble Oil & Refining Co.'s SS Manhattan, the first commercial vessel to negotiate the ice-packed North-west Passage above Canada. The Bureau of Shipping says

Cleaver Not Now Planning to End Exile in Algiers

ALGERS (AP) — Eldridge Cleaver and his small band of exiles apparently don't plan to return home from Algiers despite the Black Panthers' leadership shortage.

The U.S. diplomatic mission has offered to provide them with documents allowing them to travel to the United States but nowhere else. Friends say the Panther leaders have no intention of accepting at present.

Pressure on Cleaver, the Panthers' best known leader, to end his self-imposed exile presumably mounted after two Panther leaders were killed in a police raid Dec. 4 in Chicago and three were wounded in a shootout with Los Angeles police Dec. 8 that resulted in 19 arrests.

Panther Deaths

The Chicago shooting, the deaths of other Panthers in clashes with police — Panther leaders claim there have been 26 since January 1968, jail sentences, ideological differences and party purges have left the black revolutionary group with few leaders.

Cleaver's group includes his wife and baby, three other Panthers wanted in the United States on hijacking charges, another man, three other women and another baby.

Cleaver fled from the United States a year ago to escape prosecution in California on charges of parole violation and assault with intent to kill. His attorney has written the California Parole Board that Cleaver is ready to return for trial on the assault charge if he is allowed to remain free on parole until his trial is completed.

Travel Documents

The four men facing criminal charges have no regular travel documents with which they could leave Algeria. On Nov. 27, Thanksgiving Day, they turned up unexpectedly at a party given for American residents in Algiers by the head of the U.S. mission, William Eagleton.

After some initial verbal skirmishing, the visitors relaxed politically as we have technically."

"It is difficult to understand why man, with his genius for putting a man on the moon, can't learn to live together on earth," Col. Borman said.

Borman spoke to newsmen at the Saigon airport before boarding a jet for the United States.

He said he was going home "very much reassured about America's participation here."

Cleaver, the Panthers' information leader and the dominant personality of the group. He is the author of a book, "Soul On Ice"; and is reported working on a sequel. He lives with his wife Kathleen and their 4-month-old son in a primitive apartment in St. Eugene, a suburb north of Algiers.

Libya Tells U.S. to Pull Forces Soon

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Libya's new military government demanded "early" evacuation of U.S. forces from Wheelus Air Base at the opening of negotiations Monday night, and U.S. Ambassador Joseph Palmer said his government will consider withdrawal from the training facility near Tripoli.

The strongman of the regime that took power Sept. 1, Col. Muammar Mohammed el Khadafi, said the "treason of the ousted royalist rulers" was the only justification for Wheelus. But an American official said the opening session was cordial.

Under the agreement between the United States and the previous royal regime, the United States does not have to leave the base until the end of 1971 at the earliest. But the new leftist government has made clear it has no intention of living up to the letter of the agreement.

A U.S. official said that the base has no strategic value but was built because the desert areas around it were convenient for fighter and bomber practice in all weather.

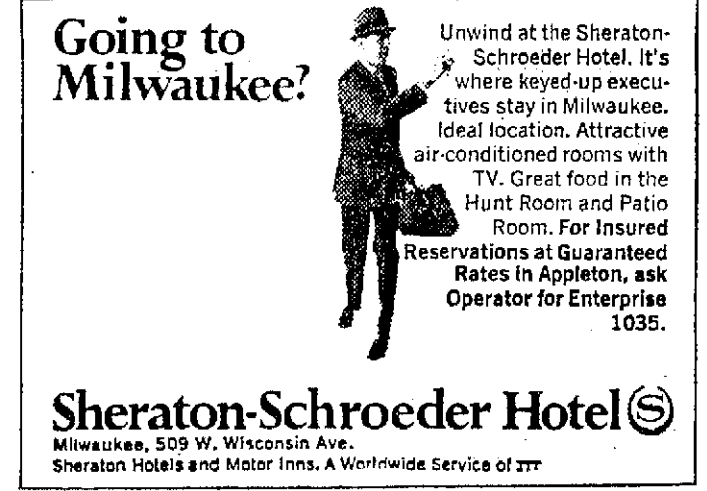

Frank Borman Ends Battlefield Visit to Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Astronaut Frank Borman ended a week-long visit to Vietnam battlefields Tuesday today saying it was a shame man hasn't "progressed as far morally and politically as we have technically."

"It is difficult to understand why man, with his genius for putting a man on the moon, can't learn to live together on earth," Col. Borman said.

Borman spoke to newsmen at the Saigon airport before boarding a jet for the United States.

Operations of Industry Must Be Redesigned

Red Tape, Theft Counterfeiting Threaten Chaos

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The customers and employees are unhappy and are complaining by the thousands. The employers are unhappy too because many of them are losing money.

Employees or professionals are stealing millions of dollars in goods, and others are counterfeiting and passing the ersatz product.

The bookkeeping is snarled and orders cannot be matched with customers. Some of the older firms are having financing problems and some of the industry's insurers are threatening to pull out.

Redesign Technology

In order to escape chaos the industry must redesign its operational technology. While doing this, industry officials must contend with the Justice Department, which is disturbed about the ways the services are priced.

Yes, problems abound in the securities industry and perhaps the most hopeful thing that can be said of them is that, finally, they are all being tackled, with results ranging from one end to the other of whatever scale is used to measure them.

It took years for the securities industry to become ensnared in the tangle of barbed wire that seems to snag and frustrate every move. It won't take as long to be cut free, but it will still take years.

Theft Problem

Perhaps the most shocking problem is that of theft. It was almost totally unexpected by an industry that not so long ago would casually send defenseless messengers through the streets with bundles of negotiable stocks.

It is the problem also about which the securities men concede to know the least. The total of thefts and losses this year in New York's Wall Street area is estimated at $45 million, but it could be much higher.

Employees of securities firms now are being fingerprinted, which should help to eliminate a type of dishonest employee who, it is suspected, wandered from one job to another in the industry looking for something to lift.

Paperwork Problems

Most of the other problems should have been foreseen with more clarity.

One of the most pressing needs is for capital. Only through an infusion of funds can the securities industry buy the machinery and systems to extricate itself from bookkeeping and other paperwork problems.

By the end of October, member firms of the New York Stock Exchange had failed to deliver $1.8 billion of securities, down from $4.5 billion earlier this year but, ominously, higher by $400 million than one month earlier.

Pension Funds

To properly match certificates with their buyers and sellers requires plenty of help and considerable automation. So does the handling of the multimillion-dollar orders of the big institutions such as mutual and pension funds.

Naturally, this means larger investments. The old method of raising capital was to invite a partner and his personal bank messengers

Sustaining Membership Campaign Begun at Appleton Family YMCA

A sustaining membership campaign, traditionally a worldwide YMCA endeavor, has been put into full swing by the Appleton Family YMCA, which will culminate with the president's ball Jan. 17. Dr. William Chandler, campaign chairman, has announced

Admission to the grand ball is by purchase of a sustaining membership only.

The membership means that the donor financially supports the YMCA over and above his own personal regular type membership.

The four types which may be selected include —Partners with youth, which is $25 and would assist a boy or girl to be a Y member who otherwise may not be able to afford it.

—Associate adult member, $25, which is a non-physical activity privilege membership for the donor.

—Century club member, $100, which supports the overall program.

—General sustaining membership, any amount that a person is able to donate.

Good Program

In a recent cost analysis for the YMCAs, completed by the North Central Area YMCA, it was stated that the Appleton organization has a good, economic program. "They have more members participating in more programs for less money than virtually all comparable Ys," it was stated.

But in the kickoff campaign speech, delivered by Appleton attorney Don Herring, three distinct areas needed improvement.

The quality of the program must be improved; there must be additions to the present staff to permit improvement in the efficiency so they can place their efforts on those things for which they were trained and hired. It is necessary to provide for the maintenance and upkeep for the $2 million facility, Herring said.

"To me, it is important that the personalities and the character and bodies of our young people are developed. The Y appears to be one of the few places that imposes limits upon its youth. In addition, it requests things of them and expects things of them and account into the firm. But, when the partner left so did the cash.

Brokerage houses now find the partner left so did the cash, to modern conditions. The New York Stock Exchange favors permitting brokers to sell shares to the public now in order to tap the sources of funds that are needed.

The pricing issue is being studied thoroughly by the Big Board and the Securities and Exchange Commission. Brokers have been avoiding the small investor, claiming they lose money handling his transactions. Sometime next year the commissions for handling small orders probably will be raised.

When all these problems are straightened out, and it will take years to do so, the insurers might begin to feel a little more confident in issuing security bonds. Right now they are very unhappy.

The 1960s were a hectic decade for the securities industry. Many men were made wealthy in the frenzied expansion of selling and buying. But they utterly ignored certain nonmoney aspects of their businesses. They forgot that a big business operation demands more than telephones, salesmen, clerks and messengers gives them the opportunities to use their abilities to the full-cent from program income and 15 per cent from the United Fund.

Membership Up

According to Sherm Finak, chairman of the finance committee of the YMCA board, he necessary income to balance operating expenses," he said. Between 1960 and 1969 the Appleton population has grown by 21 per cent while the YMCA membership has gone up by 500 per cent.

In reviewing the income sources, he said that 30 per cent of the YMCA income is derived from from membership fees 47 per cent from program income and 15 per cent from the United Fund.

"These percentages have left us 7 per cent short of the YMCA board, he necessary income to balance operating expenses," he said.

According to the finance head, the YMCA has done many things to help itself in the financial situation. Rates were raised, program fees have been added, and needed staff has not been added, he said.

Duke Names Ex-Governor As President

DUKHAM, N.C. (AP) — Terry Sanford, a former North Carolina governor who gained a national reputation as a promoter of education, has decided to accept the presidency of Duke University rather than run for office in 1972.

I thought for several years that I might re-enter the political arena, Sanford said Sunday.

day. But there is more challenge in this.

Sanford, who served as governor from 1961 to 1965, was named Duke president Saturday. Sanford had been mentioned as an opponent for Sen. B. Everett Jordan in the 1972 Democratic primary.

A governor, Sanford reopened the consolidated University of North Carolina system, opened three liberal arts colleges and established a statewide system of community colleges.

He was chairman of the National Citizens for Humphrey-McGuire Committee in 1968.

State Council Gives 2 Years To Fairground

$11 Million Needed To Ensure Life of West Allis Facility

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The State Fair Park in suburban West Allis should be closed after the 1971 fair and all expenses until then kept to a minimum, the Wisconsin Exposition Council said Monday.

The council said the present site was burdened with financial problems and aging and inadequate structures.

"Estimates indicate that it will cost about $11 million for the state to provide some 20 years of life to the existing facilities," said a policy statement adopted without dissent and with little discussion.

Future management decisions, it said, "can be based on a two-year life expectancy for the exposition center and major expenditures should be avoided."

The council's recommendation was sent to the Department of Local Affairs and Development, which is in charge of the fairgrounds. Gov. Warren P. Knowles and Fair Administrator Vernon Wendland.

The council said a plan should be worked out to reassign civil service employees at the fairground to other state jobs.

Negotiations with firms that contract with the fair—the U.S. Auto Club, which sanctions an annual race at the site, and the Royal American Shows, which provides the midway—should be based on the premise that the site will be closed after the 1971 fair, the statement said.

"Hopefully this will be the catalyst that will draw attention to this problem," said Harold DeHart, council member from Tomahawk.

Council members have said a bill pending in the legislature is the last chance to save the fair. It would allow the Department of Local Affairs to study the possibility of backing and using a privately financed state fair site.

One Milwaukee area realtor has said he will build such a site if given legislative approval.

Youngsters Attend Annual Party

A Child's Eye View of Christmas

A Net Stocking bulging with cellophane wrapped candy canes and foil covered candies brings a look of contentment to little partygoer, Cynthia Vander Linden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Vander Linden. At right, Kristin Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Benson toddles uninhibitedly down the aisle to take a closer look at the tricks of the magician's trade.

Post-Crescent Photos by Robert V. Baeten

To be young enough to believe in Santa Claus is to know as only a child can the magic and mystery of Christmas, a time when fairy tales come true.

For children of the staff and students of the Institute of Paper Chemistry, memories to be treasured no doubt will include a very special afternoon planned by Mrs. John G. Strange with the assistance of Mrs. A. Neil McLeod, Miss Marsha Godschalk and Mrs. Zinn Garrett.

The event was Mrs. Strange's annual Christmas party held Saturday at Krannert Auditorium, where a regal Christmas tree shimmering with colored lights and ornaments exuded its own wonderful fragrance and the promise of sweets and treats to come.

First movies, then a magician and finally Santa Claus, twinkling eyes, hearty laugh, warm manner and all, entertained the children. Some sat in silent wonder occasionally examining their candy-filled stockings, while others with more holidays behind them whispered excitedly and then grew suddenly shy when the jolly man in the red suit perched them on his knee once more to lend an ear to a child's eye view of Christmas.

Deborah and Patricia, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davidson, keep equally still as they watch with wonder the entrance of Santa. At left, wearing a wide grin as he offers his hand to Santa is Sean Herring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Herring.

Pondering for a Moment, Sigmond Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Johnson, peeps beneath Santa's snowy white curls to meet the twinkling eyes that ask the question every child wants to hear this time of year.

National BPW Urges Social Security Changes

Amendments to the Social Security Act that would permit either married couples to pool their income for computation of social security benefits, set an equal retirement age for men and women, and increase the years widows' and widowers' survivor extend social security coverage benefits from 32½ per cent to 100 per cent were among the proposals suggested by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. in recent testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington, D.C.

Testifying on behalf of the organization, Mrs. Lucille H. Shriver, Federation director said, "The National Federation supports legislation which would provide greater equity for working men and women by recognizing the working wife's contribution. In addition our legislative platform and our philosophy are directed toward equalizing, where possible, benefits between working men and women. While we recognize that the special dependency of many wives cannot be ignored, we also feel that the increasing numbers of working men and women and the inequities they zation is not here to ask for special benefits for women. What we ask for is simple equality, in so far as that is possible."

Reviewing the history of the Federation's social security proposals she said, "Throughout the years BPW has sought to urge liberalization of the retirement test so that retired persons who want to work will be encouraged to do so and so a base for computing family benefits that the yearly amount they receive will be increased in another fashion, thus enabling them to stay financially sound without only receive benefits from their accompanying tax."

According to the National Federation, correction of the inequities toward working wives dependency requirement for enrollment be accomplished by adopt-titlenment to husband's or widow's recommendations of the Task Force on Social Insurance and Taxes to the Citizen's Advisory Council on the Status of Women. They are eliminating the benefit for wives, with an appropriate increase in benefits for all workers, separating wife and benefits into two parts, a social benefit based on presumptive need and payable to all the aged persons and a wage-related benefit paid on the basis of covered work; a headed by Wilbur D. Mills. The working woman's benefit on top public hearings were in the of instead of in lieu of a wife's committee room in the Long-benefit, and some move toward worth Building.

Miss Marcia Claire Voissem

Four to be Presented at Coronet Ball

For four young Appleton women, the climax of a glittering holiday season will be their presentation to the adult membership of Bulte des Morris Golf Club at its tenth Coronet Ball on Dec. 27.

To be honored at this year's festive party are Miss Alison Ann Brahe, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Neil Benton Brahe, 1136 E. Moorpark Ave.; Miss Perri Ducklow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ducklow, 510 E. North St.; Miss Katherine Jane Kewley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Kewley, 1121 Ridge Lane; and Miss Marcia Claire Voissem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin C. Voissem, 1920 West Charles St.

Each young woman, a June '69 high school graduate, will be gowned in traditional white, and presented to Club President Richard D. Kewley by her father. President Kewley will introduce the young women to members and guests.

The presentees, escorts, parents, guests and members will dine at 7:30 p.m. The presentation will take place at 9 p.m. and a dance is scheduled at 10 p.m. for the presentees and their guests.

Co-chairmen for the ball are Mrs. Thomas E. Frawley and Mrs. Patrick F. Coughlin.

Miss Brahe has chosen Charles Whitman Jones, Elm Grove, as her party escort. A graduate of Appleton High School-East, and a student at Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, Mich., Miss Brahe will be presented to the melody of the "Theme Song from Romeo and Juliet." Mr. Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitman Jones.

"Sunny" is the song chosen by Miss Ducklow, a graduate of Appleton High School-East, and a student at Elmhurst College, Elmhurst, Ill. Miss Ducklow's escort will be James Haugner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Haugner.

Escort for Miss Kewley is Jeffery Michael Berg, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Berg, a student at Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind. and a graduate of Xavier High School, Miss Kewley's song is "This Guy's in Love With You."

Miss Voissem will be introduced to the melody of

"More," the theme song from "Mondo Cane." A graduate of Xavier and a student at St. Norbert, West De Pere, Miss Voissem will be escorted at the ball by Jeffery A. Theisen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Theisen.

Your Problems

Smoking, Cancer Controversy Continues

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Since you are one of the nation's leading anti-cigarette books, I direct this question to you.

Recently the major tobacco companies decided they had been kicked around long enough. In self-defense they embarked on a campaign to fight the anti-cigarette people with scientific facts. The most impressive of these facts is as follows: research and medical investigators have been unable to produce one single case of lung cancer in rats even though the rats were exposed to excessive amounts of cigarette smoke for an extended period of time. Surely you have read of these experiments and have drawn some conclusions. What are they, Ann Landers? — Need The Weed

Dear Need: Yes, I have read of the experiments and my conclusion is as follows: it is apparently safe for rats to smoke. I would not give the same advice to people, however. Scientific research on humans has produced irrefutable evidence that cigarette smoking is a substantial hazard to health and the dangers increase with both the number of cigarettes smoked each day and the youthfulness when smoking is started. Cigarette smoking is unquestionably a factor in the increase in death due to heart disease, emphysema and lung cancer over the past 35 years.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If you think I need a head doctor say so and I'll find one. The way things are going, I'll be needing one sooner or later.

My husband and I raised six children. They were two years apart and I didn't have a cleaning woman or a laundress or the electrical appliances that the girls have today. Our children grew up to be well

Military Wives Call for Reunion

All wives of servicemen are invited to attend the Military Wives reunion polluck Christmas party Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Red Cross office, 110 E. North St.

Mrs. Donald Keller, publicity chairman for the group, says members hope to see new members, many of the older members who have settled in this area and others who may be home for the holidays.

behaved and respectful of people and property. It's a different story with my grandchildren. When they come to my house they wreck everything in sight. They scratch the furniture, break my knick-knacks, tear the flowers out of the pots and carry food all over the house. My daughter-in-law says, "Kids will be kids." My husband says, "Leave them alone or they won't like you." My son says, "Don't be so crabby. They are no worse than anybody else's kids."

My grandchildren are six, four and two years of age. Is it true that all kids are like this today? If you say so, I'll believe it. — Mixed Up

Dear Mixed: No, it is not true. I happen to have three grandchildren the same ages of yours and they do not eat all over my house nor do they tear up my plants and destroy my furniture. Their mother wouldn't allow it.

Parents do their kids no favor when they let them run wild. Children need to have limits set. It gives them a feeling of security. I feel sorry for youngsters who can do as they please. They feel, deep down, that nobody loves them enough to insist that they behave themselves. Discipline is a special kind of love. Kids know it and want will be kids." My husband says, "Leave them alone or they won't like you." My son says, "Don't be so crabby. They are no worse than anybody else's kids."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you print, please, this definition? I ran across it recently and I believe it says a mouthful. "A hippie is a person who looks like Tarzan, dresses like Jane and smells like Cheetaah." Thanks. — Down With Eyesores on the Landscape

Dear Down: That definition has been kicking around for at least two years. I'm printing it out of respect to old age.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Opening lead — ♣ 5

West led the five of spades. East put up the king, and Willie made his little speech, playing the four of spades from his hand. It was really quite generous of Willie because he could have made sure of two spade tricks if he had taken the first trick with the ace of spades.

East returned the eight of spades, and declarer's jack lost to the queen. Now West's hand was dead since he could never regain the lead. Instead of continuing with the useless spades, therefore, West shifted to the seven of diamonds.

The lead gave South a free finesse, but this made no difference. Declarer had to knock out the ace of hearts and the ace of clubs, and he didn't need three diamond tricks except as a way of stopping East's long suit. South had enough high cards to win 10 tricks except that he had to lose two aces and two spades.

Perhaps you're wondering what made Willie so warm-hearted. See what happens if he wins the first trick with the ace of spades. South knocks out the ace of clubs, and back comes a spade. West plays low, and dummy wins with the ten.

Now declarer has only eight tricks: two spades, three diamonds and three clubs. He must knock out the ace of hearts in the attempt to develop a ninth trick. East takes the ace of hearts and leads his remaining spade, whereupon West defeats the contract with the rest of the spades.

Declarer's refusal to win the first spade trick is the simple holdup play that you employ at most notrump contracts. South

Kaufman-Ristow

St. Mary Catholic Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Miss Judith Ann Kaufman and Robert M. Ristow.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Kaufman, 510 S. Pierce Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin G. Ristow, 1346 W. Lawrence St. Mrs. Patrick Kiley attended her sister as matron of honor. Mrs. John A. Heegeman and Miss Rita Marcks were bridesmaids.

William Ristow performed the duties of best man for his brother, John Ristow and Larry Meidam were groomsmen. Patrick Kiley, John A. Heegeman and Leon Meidam seated guests.

The couple greeted guests at a reception at the Country Aire Club. They will reside in Appleton.

Shearier-Hengst

Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Shearier, 5982 Rosewood Drive, have announced the recent marriage in Eugene, Ore. of their daughter, Kay, to Acco Hengst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Taeke Hengst, Bervewijk, The Netherlands.

The new Mrs. Hengst and her husband are graduates of the University of Oregon, Eugene.

They reside in Eugene.

must disregard his jack of spades and must play as though he had the ace and two very low spades.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-Q 9 7 5 3 H-7 6 4 3 D-7 C-5 4 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades. You have the right distribution for a jump to four spades, but your hand isn't quite strong enough. You need another king or so to get up to so high a level.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 36 and had a partial hysterectomy. Please explain the following terms in relation to a heart condition: My doctor told me to have a Pap smear test once a year for safety's sake. Now we have moved to another state, and the new doctor says that because I had a hysterectomy I no longer need a Pap smear. Is this right? — Mrs. C.R.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 36 and had a partial hysterectomy. Please explain the following terms in relation to a heart condition: My doctor told me to have a Pap smear test once a year for safety's sake. Now we have moved to another state, and the new doctor says that because I had a hysterectomy I no longer need a Pap smear. Is this right? — Mrs. C.R.

That's a frequent question, and there's a considerable difference of opinion, so the best I can do is tell you what I think is the proper answer. (I find plenty of professional agreement with my view among gynecologists and other physicians.)

It isn't a simple yes or no answer.

The cervix, or neck of the womb (uterus), is the most frequent site of cancer in the genital area of women.

The Pap test (taking a sample of the cells at the cervix) has proved to be an extremely useful test to determine whether abnormal cells are present — cancer being a matter of cells becoming abnormal to an uncontrolled degree.

In your case, Mrs. R., you say only the uterus was removed, which implies that the cervix is still there — and remains a potentially vulnerable spot.

If it had been a complete hysterectomy, with the cervix removed too, then I would say that a Pap smear would be of scant value. But with the cervix still there, and especially if your ovaries were not removed, then I say yes, a Pap smear is a wise precaution.

I mention the presence of the ovaries since their activity in hormone production appears to have a bearing on the appearance and progress of cancer of the cervix, although I do not mean that that is the cause. The cause of cancer remains a question that has not been Cardiac arrest means that his heart stopped. Myocardial infarction means that part of the heart muscle was affected already, from a previous heart attack. Coronary arteriosclerosis means that the arteries serving the heart muscle had gradually become hardened and thickened which led to the heart attack.

Cardiac decompensation is another way of saying that the heart, already damaged, no longer was capable of compensating for the damage, and was unable to pump a normal amount of blood.

A great many people, I find, do not understand how the heart operates, or what a heart attack really is. That is why I explain it in my booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," and I suggest that you read it. For a copy, send 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Post-Crescent.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 30 and started menopause at 43. My nose gets red constantly. One doctor told me it was because of hot flashes, but why should it affect just my nose? It is embarrassing and not very attractive. Would a dermatologist treat this? — Mrs. M.K.

This sounds like acne rosacea (rose-Ay-shun) which is rather common in menopausal women. The use of estrogen (hormones) usually helps, but remember that I am just guessing what your trouble is, and you shouldn't. See a dermatologist (skin specialist) for a reliable diagnosis, and possibly for more specific treatment.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Union Station Has Go Climb a Rock, Teachers Invite

Wedding That Is Off Schedule, Too

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Time-worn Union Station has had its first wedding in its 81 years.

And the wedding, like many of the remaining few trains, was behind schedule.

Ralph A. Condo, 27, Indianapolis, a Penn Central brakeman, married Patricia Markey, 25, Indianapolis, a professional artist and art teacher.

Freight trains rumbling over former passenger tracks and the sound of a lone saxophone provided the music Sunday.

There was supposed to be a road.

Voters May Decide Fate Of Outagamie Executive

Froehlich, Supv, Bubolz to Circulate Petitions

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Petitions were being circulated today calling on the Outagamie County Board to either create the position of elected county executive or call a referendum on the question in April.

Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich of Appleton and Outagamie County Board Supv. G. Allen Bubolz, also of Appleton, jointly prepared the petitions which were being sent out this morning.

Froehlich said that a formal organization would be set up. A total of 6,333 signatures would be needed to force County Board action. Froehlich said that he and Bubolz wanted to certify the petitions no later than Feb. 6 but hoped to get sufficient signatures by the Jan. 13 County Board meeting.

If the County Board would act to create the position of elected executive at either the January or February meetings the petitions would be withdrawn.

Bubolz said that the main reason for getting the petitions out now was to encourage the board to take positive action in January.

Froehlich said that his position had been that counties needed strong political leaders of county government to move county government into modernization.

"It is one more step toward autonomy," he said. A resolution calling for creation of an appointed county administrator was submitted to the County Board earlier this month but was tabled for 30 days. The tabling action had the effect of tabling a second resolution calling for the elected executive.

Both jobs were created by the current State Legislature. Outagamie County has had an executive secretary since 1963.

Park Dispute Gaining Force

Letter, Petition Join Opposition To High-Rise Plan

A full-scale crusade to defend City Park seemed to be in motion today as the Park and Recreation Commission prepared to decide whether one of the park's eight acres should be sold as a high-rise apartment site for the elderly.

Wendall H. Smith, immediate predecessor of Commissioner Ralph Gertsch as chairman of the commission, joined the ranks of defenders with a 2½-page letter assailing the proposal and calling Gertsch's initial support of it "most alarming."

Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd), who represents residents around the near-downtown park, meanwhile filed a petition bearing 19 signatures including his own, opposing the proposed sale of board chairman City Atty. David Greacen and County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath "in the very near future."

Monday, Esler said he had not yet received Buckley's Dec. 11 letter, but he added that the ruling also still hadn't come from Madison. Ponath asked the state attorney's office to rule whether the portion of state statute being followed by the City, Appleton Housing Authority presented its request to buy the preliminary stages of the venture is appropriate.

Murder Suspect Is Ruled Sane, Guilty

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — A Circuit Court jury deliberated only 17 minutes this morning before finding Clifford Charles Lindsey, 28, sane as well as guilty in the Oct. 5 death of 18-year-old Margarita Gonzales.

The panel of six men and six women heard testimony of two psychiatrists this morning in the second portion of the split trial involving Lindsey's plea of not guilty by reason of insanity to a charge of second degree murder.

The same jury returned a guilty verdict late Monday afternoon after six days of testimony on whether Lindsey was actually responsible for the death of the Gonzales girl, whose nude body was found in a ravine near an Edgewater Beach road cottage. It deliberated about three hours before reaching that decision.

Lindsey could receive a maximum prison term of 25 years on the conviction.

Defense Proof

Defense Attorney Gordon Jarstad chose the American Law Institute test of sanity, thus placing the burden of proof on the defense to show Lindsey was insane at the time of the crime.

Jarstad's first witness, Dr. James Caffrey, a Green Bay psychiatrist, testified, however, that he had examined Lindsey on Dec. 10 and Dec. 11 and was of the opinion, to a reasonable medical certainty, that the defendant was sane on Oct. 4 and 5.

The defense rested its case after this testimony and made no final argument to the jury.

Dist. Atty. John Gower called Dr. Edward Houfek, a Sheboygan psychiatrist who examined Lindsey Dec. 8 and again Monday night.

Houfek said the defendant exhibited an antisocial personality disorder, but that he was sane in the legal sense at the time of the crime.

Doctors Agree

Both Caffrey and Houfek agreed that the test for insanity had not been met. This requires that the defendant lack substantial capacity, due to mental disease, to appreciate the criminality of his conduct and to conform his conduct to the requirements of law.

After Caffrey's testimony, Gower asked for a directed verdict of guilty, but Judge Robert Parins said that where a jury trial had been demanded, the answer to the sanity or insanity of the defendant had to be left up to the jury.

In his instructions to the jury, Parins pointed out that anti-social conduct does not mean the defendant was necessarily suffering from a mental disease.

Esler Awaits State Counsel On Proposal

While Mayor George Buckley urges meeting soon to discuss details of the joint city-county safety building proposal, Outagamie County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler says he is awaiting a state attorney general's opinion first.

Buckley sent Esler a letter urging Esler to call a promised meeting between the mayor, board chairman, City Atty. David Greacen and County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath "in the very near future."

Monday, Esler said he had not yet received Buckley's Dec. 11 letter, but he added that the ruling also still hadn't come from Madison.

Ponath asked the state attorney's office to rule whether the portion of state statute being followed by the City, Appleton Housing Authority presented its request to buy the preliminary stages of the venture is appropriate.

Wants Legislators 'Off the Hook'

Froehlich's Proposal on Salaries Draws Fire

MADISON (AP) — When Wisconsin legislators decided two years ago they didn't like voting on their own salary increases, a few lawmakers complained the majority wanted to "get off the hook."

Now the complaint is being raised again.

Pending legislation would expand powers of the Legislative Compensation Council to include salaries of judges and state constitutional officers.

The measure is sponsored by Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton, who said legislators — shall be reviewed annually by an outside agency. Under the 1967 law, the 133 Committee then takes final action.

Froehlich's proposal, which cleared the Assembly State Affairs Committee on an 8-2 vote, now is pending before the Joint Finance Committee. And it is starting to receive bipartisan

Mayor's Honor Roll

'Coincidence'

Six of Appleton's 20 aldermen have made what Mayor George Buckley calls his "Council Honor Roll—1969."

It hangs, with the official gold mayoral seal attached, in a frame on the wall of Buckley's outer office.

"Indicated below are the names of six men on the Common Council of the City of Appleton, Wisconsin, who during the past year have demonstrated on numerous occasions that they have the courage and necessary intestinal fortitude to vote their convictions without fear," it reads under the mayor's official City Hall letterhead.

Listed are Aldermen John Ayers (12th), Edward Maloney (19th), Eldred Mullen (6th), Robert Roemer (8th), John Steidl (18th) and Al Stogebauer (4th).

Spirit of Thankfulness Is the Spirit of Christmas

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Maybe there are selfish and mean old Scrooges in this world of today. Maybe there is no Santa Claus for some people. And maybe the spirit of goodwill among men seemingly has dwindled since that first Christmas day so long ago.

Only don't tell Mardell Kimball, wife of Post-Crescent pressman Richard Kimball and mother of six children. She simply will tell you that it isn't so and probably will burst into tears of gratitude while she tells her Christmas story of 1969.

"Thank You"

Mrs. Kimball was severely burned Nov. 21 while saving her two youngest children, Robin, 3, and Jamie, 1½, in the flash fire that destroyed the Kimball home on S. Jackson Street. The other four children were at school.

The attractive, 34-year-old mother talks earnestly of her trouble in saying her thanks properly. As she talks her hands go to her head to touch the dark-tressed wig

It's hard to keep the wig straight because there's not much hair left to anchor it, at least not until her hair grows out again. Her most severe burns still need attention and are painful, but her smile is there — it's a tearful smile — but it's always there.

"I have so much to be thankful for — the whole family does," she says. "Only it's so hard to really say what's in my heart."

"How can I say 'thank-you' to the man who saved my life and the baby's?" she asks, referring to Kenneth Sternhagen, 1611 S. Kernan St., the passerby who punched a hole in the screen of the back bedroom and pulled Mrs. Kimball and Jamie, to safety. The mother earlier had pushed Robin out the front door, then went back into the burning house for Jamie, who was in his crib.

"We were trapped, the baby and I, and I thought we were going to die when Mr. Sternhagen smashed that screen and took Jamie, then pulled me through."

"How can we thank the neighbors who took in all the youngsters? An emergency is one thing, but when that emergency drags into 23 days, that's quite another." Mrs. Kimball was referring to the kindness of Mrs. Rose Eika, Mrs. Carlos Yowell, Mrs. Larry Roberts and Mrs. Robert Burton and their families.

"There's so much to be thankful for," Mrs. Kimball repeated. "Our neighbor Claude Thompson, who put his former first aid training to work and ordered ice water

Menasha Council Unveils Tax Rate Of $66.36 for 1970

MENASHA City residents heard aldermen propose a 1970 net tax rate of $66.36 per $1,000 of assessed valuation at a public hearing on Menasha's city budget Monday night.

Upwards of 130 persons took seats at the Menasha High School Auditorium after the hearing was transferred from the Menasha city council chambers to make more room for the overflow crowd.

The 2 1/2-hour review of a city budget carrying total expenditures of $7.75 million saw the most outspoken complaints leveled against the $20,000 budget for the Menasha Redevelopment Authority (MRA) and witnessed a public effort to have $30,000 put back into the budget for construction of six tennis courts in the city.

$105,000 in Cuts
Aldermen will meet again tonight to consider additional net expenditure cuts of about $105,000 in the record city budget which, if approved by the council, could lower the net tax rate to below $65.

As it now stands the rate is up about 17 per cent over the 1969 levy of $56.60 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The cuts aldermen will discuss at tonight's meeting include a net reduction of about $80,000 by using surplus storm sewer bond monies for debt retirement, a move suggested by Third Ward Ald. Sumner Parker in a council session, prior to last night's budget hearing.

Sewage Cut
Aldermen will also consider a cut of $15,000 in their share of the Neenah-Menasha Sewerage Commission budget after learning Monday that Neenah had approved a similar cut in their 1970 budget, and additional revenues of $6,000 from the water and light commission.

Despite the tax rate increase proposed Monday several persons asked the council why they had cut the $30,000 from the budget for construction of six tennis courts at Clovis Grove Elementary School.

Robert Gellert, 213 Elm St. said that without providing new courts in 1970, the city "will find in a couple of years that you won't have the five courts zeroing in on specific items, no you have now because they are in such bad condition."

Those backing the city's provision for new tennis courts have said that only two of the city's seven courts are adequate for competitive teams.

Menasha High School tennis coach Leo Kenney, 752 Warsaw St., said the city needs new tennis courts now "not 15 years from now."

"I travel around the state quite a bit, and I am really ashamed at the facilities we have here in Menasha, not only for tennis but other facilities as well," Kenney said. He said this is because the city has "put off" providing the new facilities when they were needed in the past.

Parker, who originally backed construction of the courts, said the council's decision to cut them from the budget was based on the need for budget cuts.

"One reason why we rejected the proposal was because the council felt that the reaction to the high tax rate was such that the majority of the people did not want that number of courts this year," he said.

Maplewood Courts
The council's move to reject the six courts was made with the understanding that three courts would be built with leftover construction funds at Maplewood Junior High School in 1970.

"We'll have six new courts in two years," said First Ward Ald. Andrew (Bud) DeLeeuw, noting that three will be built at the high school next year.

"If we get six in two years, I think we're doing a pretty good job," DeLeeuw said.

Tax Rate Hikes
Parker, who presided over the budget hearing as chairman of the finance committee, noted basic tax rate increases in 1970 were $3 for schools, $1.50 in state and county taxes and $5.50 in city expenditures.

In a 40-minute detailed description of budget expenditures, Parker seemed to answer some of the questions persons had over why the taxes would be increasing.

"People are concerned about the high tax rate," Parker said this morning, "but when they find in a couple of years that we were given the opportunity of you won't have the five courts zeroing in on specific items, no you have now because they are in such bad condition."

Those who asked for deletion of the MRA budget, he said,

Neenah School Board Ponders New School

NEENAH — The board of education, during a 5 1/2-hour session Monday night, delved into the detail of Neenah West High School to pave the way for bidding in early 1970.

Prepared with numerous drawings and charts of every part of the school, four representatives of the architectural firm of Shaver and Co. went over the structural design, building materials, plumbing, heating, electricity, acoustical treatment and flooring.

The board authorized the Kansas firm to proceed with working drawings for the large auditorium and was in agreement with most of the plans for the remainder of the facility.

Harold Holding, architect, told the board the auditorium is basically a 3-level structure with the balcony, main floor and basement level beneath the stage.

The auditorium will seat 1,656 persons with room for more if used for large and smaller chairs are brought in. Holding said, "Because of the size and design complexity of the auditorium, it has been treated as a separate entity in planning, although the total school will be one facility."

The auditorium will have ramp seating (main floor) and tiered seating (in the back and balcony).

The orchestra pit will be able to be raised to the level of the stage. In the stage area will be a television and production room, men and women's dressing rooms and stagecraft area. Holding pointed out

In the basement will be a workroom, storage for costumes and materials, and an area for electrical equipment.

"Acoustically, we can provide the type of interior sounds you want," he said.

Although the board had originally planned for a 700-seat auditorium, several Neenah residents pledged the amount needed for the larger auditorium.

Flexible Crowds
The facility will be able to be used for large and smaller crowds, since a curtain could be pulled to separate the main floor from the back and balcony.

Need Emphasis Shift to 'Why'

Drug Use: Symptom of Times

NEENAH — Society should put less emphasis on the use of drugs by youths today and pay more attention to why the drugs are taken, Dr. D. A. Treffert, superintendent of Winnebago State Hospital, told the Neenah Club Monday.

Control of drugs will not be curbed by legislation, but only by getting to the root of the problems facing youths, he said.

Dr. Treffert, chairman of the State Medical Societies Commission on Alcoholism and Drug Addiction, said drug taking is only one symptom of the troubled times of today.

Student suicide
Other symptoms are riots, marches, alcoholism and suicide, the latter being a major cause of death among college students.

Youths also use the stimulants such as diet pills and speed, and the hallucinatory drugs such as LSD and its derivatives.

LSD, Dr. Treffert said, is being used less and less by teenagers because of its danger. He noted that there is a young girl at Winnebago State who is still in a three-year "trip."

The last drug classification and the "most frightening" is the "God-knows-what" drugs, Dr. Treffert said. He explained that youths sniff glue, deodorants, separate the small beads on cold tablets to get high and use various other over-the-counter drugs.

Some have injected water into their veins to palpitate their heart giving them a "funny feeling."

"At Winnebago State I see some of the human wreckage and it is tragic," he said.

Eighty per cent of the people using drugs do it for experimental purposes either because a friend is doing it or to protest "against us and society."

The other 20 per cent are those who feel drug-taking is necessary to expand their minds, and those who are very troubled. Dr. Treffert said that one youth under the effects of drugs put an electric drill in his head to "expand his mind."

Drugs have been around in one form or another since the beginning of man. Then, why the epidemic of the 60's?

Drugs are readily available almost anywhere today, he said. And the use of drugs is advertised more and more, such as television promoting pill taking, he said.

If a youngster sees that his dad needs alcohol to help him cope with life, the youngster may feel he needs some drug to help him get through life, Dr. Treffert said.

"What the younger generation needs today are less critics and more models," he said.

Dr. Treffert said he has heard one major theme from the youths who use drugs and that is that they are tired of today's society.

"They claim that society measures people by what they do, not what they are."

These youngsters feel too often they are possessions and not persons, he said.

Back in the Depression days, people were worried about getting a roof over their head and food on the table. Today's youth do not generally have this worry and therefore look inside themselves for a search for identity, he said.

"This is a price we pay for prosperity."

One of the biggest things the young look for is communication and this is one of the major failures in today's world, Dr. Treffert said.

"At a time when we can talk to a man circling around the moon, we don't talk to each other."

"If we want to find out why kids take drugs, we have to listen to them before we bring in all the experts, psychiatrists and computers," he warned.

"We've got to take our minds off of laws and drugs, and put them on problems of the people who take drugs."

David Meyer, 24-year-old mayoral candidate, renewed his attack on redevelopment and deficit spending during Monday evening's public hearing on the parking authority and the 1970 city budget.

Parking Authority Hearing Warm Up

MENASHA — Although the hearing on the 1970 budget was the main attraction, a hearing on the proposed ordinance to create a Menasha Parking Authority (MPA) turned out to be a noisy preliminary bout Monday night.

Like the budget hearing that followed, the Menasha Redevelopment Authority (MRA) and the proposed downtown redevelopment project were the main items of attack.

The parking authority ordinance would authorize the mayor, with council approval to appoint a five-member authority to oversee parking facilities operation in the city.

Revenue Bond

City Atty. Richard Steffens emphasized that the authority would not be independent of the common council, but would require council funding of all activities. The city, and not the authority, would be responsible for issuing revenue bonds to finance parking facility construction.

Second Ward Ald. Walter Rimmel, who is also an MRA commissioner, defended the parking aspect of the downtown redevelopment plan.

Also said it was up to Public Facilities Associates, Madison, the private developer in the downtown project, to produce a plan which will attract buying power back to Menasha's commercial and retail outlets.

"The only way to produce a good tax base here is to continue to prosper," Rimmel said, and the city's downtown must be revived to attract buying power. This he said, will also increase the local tax and reduce resident property tax burdens.

Discussion quickly shifted from the parking authority to redevelopment in general, with some persons calling for a referendum on the issue and others defending it as the only way for Menasha's downtown to again prosper.

"The city's valuation is not going to increase unless either we have continued annexation — the chances for which are slim — or redevelopment continues," said Jack Grist, 341 Winnebago Ave.

"If we let things lie as they are taxes will increase," he said. "If we don't bring up the tax base of the city, and if we don't want a mess — and this city is a mess — you'll just keep coming back and grumbling year after year unless we see this redevelopment through," he said.

Robert Peterson, 210 Water St., had a different opinion.

"I've been in Menasha for one year, and what I've seen stinks to high heaven," he said. He called for a referendum on redevelopment several times during both hearings Monday.

Woman Dies From Injuries

Mrs. J. R. Schertz Is Waupaca County's
15th Traffic Fatality

WAUPACA — Mrs. Joseph R. (Anna) Schertz, 81, route 2, Tigerton, died at Theda Clark Hospital, Neenah, Monday morning, becoming Waupaca County's 15th traffic fatality.

County Coroner Sam Salan advised Capt. John F. Penney, of the county traffic patrol, that Mrs. Schertz's death was attributed to an accident which occurred Nov. 25 in the City of Marion. She received a broken pelvis in the accident which also took the life of her husband, Joseph R. Schertz, 76, who died Dec. 1.

Earlier this month the coroner classified Schertz's death as a coronary thrombosis caused by the accident. It was the county's 13th traffic fatality.

The Schertzes were injured when their car, driven by Schertz, collided with an auto driven by Marvin G. Werth, 50, 425 Emerson St., Burlington, at U. S. 45 and N. E. 7th St. in Marion.

Werth and his son, Thomas, 16, a passenger were not injured in the crash. The accident occurred when the Schertz car, which was stopped on 7th St. at the intersection, suddenly pulled out in front of Werth. The traffic report states that the Werth car left 168 feet of skid marks on the highway but the driver was unable to avoid the

'Silent Night, Lonely Night' Drama on 5

BY TV SCOUT

8-10 (Channel 5) — A very deft handling of the human condition is demonstrated on a sometimes depressing but always interesting drama titled "Silent Night, Lonely Night" a World Premiere Presentation on Tuesday Night At the Movies. Lloyd Bridges stars (compelling with his appearance in the ABC TV Movie of the Week tonight) along with Shuley Jones. They play a couple whose intense personal problems with their own males both inhibits them and brings them together. They meet during a holiday weekend in a New England resort where a chance acquaintance turns to companionship and then love. His problem is a mentally ill wife (Lynn Collins) in a nearby institution. He is a pharisee, a husband whom she intends divorcing despite the effects she fears on her schoolboy son.

9-10 (Channel 2) — 60 Minutes has four major segments. The primary one is a study of suicide, which the program says is taking more lives in America than murder. There's also a good visual, animated depiction of intellectuals in Moscow from the sketch pad of Felix Topolski. Another Russian segment is on the dwindling Christian community in that nation. The fourth spot is a profile of mod millionaire Stewart Mott who has been giving huge sums of his time and money to liberal causes.

6-30-7-30 (Channels 11-9) — Comedian Marvin Kaplan pulls a twist tonight, appearing in a provocative episode of The Mod Squad as a young crusader against a slum lord. The ghetto tenement owner also happens to be a cousin but that doesn't stop Sol Alpert, who rallies the neighbors against their landlord and has a Jewish court (Beth Din) convened to try the case.

6-30-7 (Channel 5) — Having been humanized by marriage the star of I Dream of Jeannie takes on an even more human appearance as she decides her husband's bachelor friend Roger, should get married too.

6-30-7-30 (Channels 2-7) — Pat Hingle stars in one of the better episodes of Lancer this season. He plays "the devil" and he does it so devilishly that you may start thinking he's the real thing. At least, some of the people in the cast begin to feel that way after he displays what appears to be unworshipful abilities.

7-7-30 (Channel 5) — If you're any kind of TV fan, you must have seen the storyline on The Debbie Reynolds Show on a half dozen other series, and several times on just one I Love Lucy. Debbie and Charlotte are disturbed by their husbands, who are spending the night at a bachelor party at a Playboy-type club for men. Would you believe the girls rig themselves as "bunnies" to check on the action?

7-30-9 (Channels 11-9) — Lloyd Bridges as his own competition, stars on "The Silent Gun" on The Movie of the Week, a production far more

New Freedoms Gained By Movies in 1960s

Revolution Brings Startling Changes in Sex Treatment, Nudity, Camera Ideas

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Historians of the movies will record the 1960s as a period of revolution in film form and content. Never before in the half century of movies did so many changes take place.

The decade now ending brought new freedoms both in the use of the camera and narrative technique as well as in the handling of sexual themes. Were those freedoms used wisely? That is a matter future historians will have to wrestle with.

Nudity was completely banned from American films in 1960 as was language stronger than an occasional hell or damn. Even the hint of homosexuality was forbidden.

By the end of the decade nusated with melodramatic rituals than his other TV movie. The gun is silent because he has emptied it hoping that his far-ranging reputation will hold him up. At first it looks like he can pull it off.

7-30-8-30 (Channels 2-7) — The Red Skelton Show continues to surpass itself, coming up with a beauty tonight thanks to guests Cyril Ritchard and Jack Wild. It's a takeoff on "Oliver" with Red playing the Mean Widdle Kid Wild as the Artful Dodger (his Oliver role) and Ritchard the orphanage superintendent Mr. Rumples.

7-30-8 (Channel 5) — You'll enjoy the misadventures of Hilda (Tracy Morgan), Leonard Waggoner's accident-prone sister on Julia. While visiting her kin she decides to get a job and winds up a waitress, which is the perfect spot for someone who can't help breaking dishes and dropping pies.

the sex passages of the James Joyce novel. The Foxes blemish I Am Curious (yellow), sexual intercourse.

The advent of the rating system in 1968 provided the X category by which films of explicit sex could play normal theaters rather than be relegated to exploitation houses.

South Greenville Grangers Slate Christmas Party

GREENVILLE — The South Greenville Grange Christmas party will be Saturday with a potluck supper at 7:30 p.m., a business meeting program by the junior Grangers and a visit from Santa.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Julius, chairman of the entertainment committee, said that the Christmas tree trimming and the filling of Christmas bags would be Thursday at 8 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pingel, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schaefer, Harland Schneidewend, Mrs. Jerry Hoffman and Kathy Simon will help.

Mrs. Hart said she received a thank-you note from the Outagamie Home for the girls and cookies the Grange gave them.

Namath No Longer Gives 'Guarantees'

Jets Have 2 Big Hurdles Blocking Super Bowl Return

By MIKE RATHET
NEW YORK (AP) — "No," says Joe Namath. "No guarantees."

And that, more than anything else, is the tip-off to any analysis of the Jets' chances of successfully defending their American Football League championship and returning to the Super Bowl—the scene of their ascendancy last Jan. 12 to the No. 1 spot in pro football.

For Namath tells it like it is and whenever he's been asked recently whether he will guarantee the Jets' return to the Super Bowl as he guaranteed their victory over Baltimore last season he shakes his head, declines the offer and issues the staccato disclaimer.

Why? There are several reasons why the Jets may not be the team they were last year—1, the new AFL playoff system; 2, injuries and personnel changes; 3, conservatism in approach; 4, Namath himself.

Possibly foremost is the new AFL playoff system, which this weekend pits the champions of the East against the runner up in the West and vice versa in semifinal clashes leading to the championship game and the Super Bowl.

Virtual Shoo-ins

The Jets took one look at AFL East before the season started, realized they were virtual shoo-ins for a playoff berth, and consequently lost the incentive factor. Many of the Jets, Namath included, have flatly said as much.

That has been reflected in an inability to "get up" mentally, a hang-up which the Jets might not be able to shake for the playoffs.

The playoff set-up also has mitigated against the Jets' chances of repeating because the system itself throws an added roadblock in their path. The Jets must whip Kansas City in the playoff game at Shea Stadium this Saturday before taking on the Houston-Oakland winner Jan. 4.

The Jets have been able to handle the Oilers this season, but were unable to defeat either Kansas City or Oakland during the regular season.

Injuries have been a factor in the instability of the Jet defensive backfield, which lost a key component when safety Jim Hudson was injured, and may

'Big O' Rises To Third in NBA Scoring

NEW YORK (A) — Jerry West, Los Angeles' trigger man, continues to zero in on the National Basketball Association scoring title, but might cast a wary glance over his shoulder at sharp-shooting and fast-closing Oscar Robertson.

While West led the NBA in scoring with a 30.0 average, the "Big O" of Cincinnati shot the eyes out of the basket last week to leap from seventh to third place, league figures disclosed today.

Robertson's performance of 44 points at Detroit and 37 at Phoenix boosted his average to 26.5, behind the 26.8 average posted by Philadelphia's Billy Cunningham.

West, seeking his first scoring championship, dropped one-tenth of a point from last week's averages.

Nate Thurmond of San Francisco had another strong rebounding week—25 against Atlanta and 21 against Detroit—to hold the lead in that department. He's averaged 18.6 rebounds a game.

Holcomb, Ex-Purdue Coach, To Speak at Smith Dinner

Stu Now in White Sox' Front Office

Stu Holcomb, vice president, business manager and public relations director of the Chicago White Sox, will be the featured speaker at the fifth annual Red Smith Sports Awards dinner.

Stu Holcomb

Jan. 20 at Appleton's Country Aire club. Holcomb, who captained the 1931 Ohio State football team, was Purdue University's head football coach for nine years. Later, he served as Northwestern University's athletic director for 10 years. Holcomb was elected to the Pennsylvania sports hall of fame in 1965.

Ticket information will be publicized soon, and announcements on winners of the "Nice Guy" and Red Smith awards will also be made in the near future. Ten special award tables will again be set up to honor individuals who have distinguished themselves in some phase of athletics.

Some Eagle Tickets to Cost $12.50 in 1970

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Greed is not involved," said Philadelphia Eagles' general manager Pete Retzlaff in announcing Monday increases in tickets for 1970 in the new stadium here.

The new price scale for single games at home will range from $5 to $12.50, compared to a range of $4 to $7 that prevailed this year at Franklin field.

Season ticket prices for seven regular season and two preseason home games will range from $45 to $112.50. The old prices at Franklin Field for seven home games ranged from $26.50 to $52.50.

The Eagles have a city guarantee of 70,000 seats for football in the new $46 million stadium.

In an era of run-and-gun basketball, mounting scores reflect a greater emphasis on offense while defense often takes a back seat.

That might be the philosophy a lot of places, but not at Little Chute and Appleton West High Schools, where holding down the opponents' point production is still prized over running up a big total of their own.

And who can argue with the results so far this season?

The Mustangs, winners of all seven of their starts, have been the stingiest of all the Fox Cities teams with an average yield of just 42.4 points per game. Coach Tom Gossens' quintet was in top form defensively in three of those victories last week, limiting foes to a lowly 36.3 points per outing.

To further illustrate the Mustangs' pressing prowess, Waukegan was able to manage just eight points in the first half of the key Central Wisconsin Conference game the Comets eventually lost, 59-39. And Iola-Scandinavia, which got only 31 points the entire evening against the Hosses, had only 11 of them by intermission en route to a 66-31 lacing.

Praises Defense Gossens is, of course, pleased by his players' efforts to date. And he singles out the defense as the "biggest factor" in the victories.

"There's no question the defense has been outstanding," said the former Kimberly High School athlete observes. "The kids have come to believe in it. They find out it works."

The Mustang starategist admits he didn't think his club could come through with three wins in three tries last week, but they did—and easily. "Our defense had them so rattled we just started to run away from them," he added.

Another fine phase of the Mustangs' game has been the ball-handling. "Some teams have tried to press us but they haven't been very successful," Gossens says.

Carter Fined $1,000 By Bears' Halas

'Dollars for Virgil' Drive Has Begun

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP) — Discontentment, dissension, disenchantment—call it what you will—but it all seems to be surfacing for the Chicago Bears in the wake of charges against the club by quarterback Virgil Carter, who has been slapped with a $1,000 fine.

Carter, the usually soft-spoken Mormon from Brigham Young, sounded off after being lifted at halftime of Sunday's game with the Green Bay Packers and replaced by rookie quarterback Bobby Douglass.

The Bears lost their 12th National Football League game in 13 starts as the Packers scored, all their points in the third quarter for a 21-3 victory.

Carter fumed that Coach Jim Dooley "didn't have the guts" to tell him why he was taken out, called Dooley a liar and demanded to be traded.

"I'm Volunteering"

"They've been threatening to trade away a bunch of players and I'm making it easy for them — I'm volunteering," snapped Carter, who is in his sophomore year with the Bears.

"I told Virgil," said team owner George Halas, "that when he mentions he wants to be traded or plays out his option, or his troubles with Dooley, that's one thing. But when he says he wants to play out his option and hopes that the chicken management won't stand in his way, that's something else. I told him, 'Now you are in my bailiwick and you are being fined $1,000' for conduct detrimental to the ball club."

"Carter said, 'You can't do that,' I said, it's being done. "It's the biggest fine I've ever made against a player for this type of thing. The money will be turned over to the Crusade of Mercy fund."

Carter was not available for comment after the fine.

Dooley said that "anything particular I have to say to Virgil or the team will be done as a group and at an appropriate time."

Dooley added that it was a "coaches decision" to bench Carter.

"He has played 6½ games in two years and all of a sudden he is questioning the coaching staff," said Dooley.

Two hours after the announcement of Carter's fine, a "Dollars for Virgil" drive sprung up in Chicago.

Frank Diamond, an advertising salesman who started it, said:

"We began the collection because we feel the Bears had no right to fine a man just because he's got guts enough to speak his mind."

Dick Sorensen To Play in Shrine Game

MIAMI (AP)—Arizona State's brilliant defensive back, Seth Miller, signed Monday to play in the North-South Shrine all-star football game Christmas Day in the Orange Bowl.

Also announced as a participant was Miami linebacker Dick Sorensen, a 212-pounder from Menasha, Wis., who was named the Hurricanes' most valuable player this season.

Miller is expected to go in the first round of the pro draft next month. He is 6-foot-3, weighs 215 and runs the 100-yard dash in 9.7 seconds. Miller led the nation in interceptions with 11 this year.

Defense Lauded

Perry Williams Figures 'Substantially' in 1970 Bay Plans, Says Phil

BY LEE REMMEL

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — What ever possessed the Packers?

To score 21 points in 7½ minutes, that is, after struggling through a scoreless first half against the Bears.

Phil Bengtson, minutes removed from Monday's film review of that titillating eruption, found it hard to improve upon the off-the-cuff explanation he had advanced immediately after the 21-3 decision of the Bears.

"The plays worked," the Pack's head coach and general manager said. "That's all."

He paused, then pointed out, "Eight plays is all we had — and 21 points."

"It was just a question of getting our last backs into the open — we hadn't been able to do that in the first half. . . But we didn't do anything different."

"The Bears have that type of defense — they come after you very aggressively. As a result, their line of defense is thin. Once you get through it, you're gone."

"The same thing happened to them against the 49ers last week. . . It's just the nature of the Bears. They come after you really hard, so if you break through there it's going to be a long gainer."

Similar Explanation

Bengtson offered a somewhat similar explanation for the revival of quarterback Don Horn, who was a smooth proficient performer in the second half after being off target in the first 30 minutes.

"It's like a baffling average," he said. "A quarterback might have five completions in a row and he might miss the next five. You end up with an average."

"It's hard to account for it, but I thought he settled down pretty well. He more or less forced them to play a more stable defense. Once they were stabilized, he could read it and take advantage of it. . . Don is making good progress."

The Packers, it was noted, have permitted only 19 points in the fourth quarter this season as compared to 87 in the second, including the three scored by the Bears on Mac Percival's field goal in the final period Sunday afternoon. Did he have any explanation?

"Not off hand," Bengtson replied, "although our conditioning probably has something to do with it. They're in good shape."

He had been "well pleased" with his defense, he added. "They did a real good job. If Bobby Douglass hadn't got out there on a couple of fantastic scrambles, the Bears wouldn't have had anything."

Linebackers Dave Robinson and Ray Nitschke, Bengtson conceded in this connection, "both played real well."

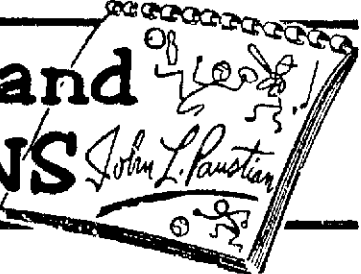

Though the gifted Gale Sayers gained 90 yards, he failed to score and Bengtson thus pronounced himself "satisfied" with the Pack's containment of the Kansas Comet.

"We came close to breaking away a couple of times, but the fact remains that he didn't. . . He has great balance and stronger legs than you'd think for a man his size."

The Packer chieftain also made these other points: "Dave

NOTES and NOTIONS

Though the Packers squelched the Bears Sunday, there was nothing they could do to prevent the Lions from clinching second place in the Central Division. The Detroit win over the Rams doomed the Bays to third place in a 4-team division for the second straight year. There's some consolation for Green Bay in the knowledge that it played in the strongest division under the current NFL alignment, which ends Sunday. The Central is the only sector which boasts as many as three teams with winning records. Packer fans, of course, are hoping that their once all-powerful team doesn't continue the habit of third place finishes in the NFL's new 3-division set-up. With the Packer defense still one of the toughest in the league to score against and the kind of offensive brilliance the Bays exhibited in the third quarter against Chicago one wonders

Tom Saffell To Manage Mobile Club

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Tom Saffell, a former major league outfielder, was named Monday as manager of Mobile's new baseball entry in the Southern League.

Saffell, 48, won a pennant as manager of the Appleton, Wis. team in the Midwest League last season.

The Chicago White Sox will supply players for the Mobile club.

Bay was in 1969, was much in evidence Sunday. Both the Bays and the Bears were so intent on offense in the first half that the game might have been termed the Futility Bowl. Without warning, the Packers became scoring tions (three touchdowns in about seven minutes) in the third quarter. Don Horn's stock again received a boost. Alternately, Packer fans have been optimistic and pessimistic about the future of their quarterbacking... but this is undoubtedly traceable to the inexperience of a young quarterback like Horn. He's actually played only about five complete games in his three seasons on the Packer roster. Horn certainly looked like a world-beater compared to the Bears' Virgil Carter and Bobby Douglass.

The Bears' morale, in general, and the quarterbacking situation in particular, deteriorated even further Sunday. Carter's hot-tempered statements were strong language indeed. Players have been known to blast coaches after they've been traded away but not while they're still employed by the club, with which they've become disenchanted.

With Douglass showing up far better as a runner than as a passer, it's possible the Bears will have to change their thinking and go for a quarterback in the first round of the draft. The Bears will either get the first or second pick (with Pittsburgh getting the other spot). The Steelers, too, could be interested in Purdue's Mike Phipps, for example, even though they have a young quarterback in Terry Hanratty. If the Bears don't have a crack at Phipps, they might well take Steve Owens since they need a good strong runner to take some of the pressure off Gale Sayers.

History is repeating itself for Vince Lombardi. In his first Packer year (1959), Lombardi directed his team to a winning (7-5) record. In his first Washington year, he is now 7-4-2, with a game at Dallas still remaining. (This writer predicted, at the time Lombardi left Green Bay, that he would produce a winning record in '69 and that the Redskins would finish second to Dallas). To continue the parallel, Lombardi's team would have to win a division title next year and it's highly possible it will — since there's a chance, in the still-unsettled realignment, that none of the NFL's hold-over powers — Minnesota, Dallas or Los Angeles — will be in Washington's division.

While three of the four NFL division champions displayed a business-as-usual attitude in last weekend's games (and settled for nothing less than victory), the Rams approached the Detroit game with something less than total dedication. Minnesota, Cleveland and Dallas retained the winning habit and their momentum even though the games were relatively meaningless. It will be interesting to see what results George Allen's "strategy" produces in the playoffs. He held some regulars out of the Detroit contest and didn't seem particularly interested in an all-out effort. Will the 28-0 shellacking the Rams took have a permanent effect on their confidence... or will it give the coaching staff a better chance to fire them up in the weeks ahead? Part of the answer will come Sunday (in the Colt game) but most of it will be in evidence Dec. 27 (vs. Minnesota).

The AFL gets the jump in the Super Bowl tournament. In opening playoff games next weekend, I look for Joe Namath to rise to the occasion and lead the Jets past Kansas City and for the Raiders to whack Houston.

In the last weekend of the regular NFL season, the choices are: Packers over Browns over Giants, Lions over Bears, Vikings over Falcons, 49ers over Eagles, Saints over Steelers, and Cowboys over Redskins. Last weekend we were 6-for-8 (.750) to drop the season-long guessing rate a mile to 76.1 per cent (259 right, 81 wrong, 13 ties).

Orr Retains Scoring Lead In the NHL

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Orr, the Boston Bruins' brilliant defenseman, and Phil Goyette, the St. Louis Blues' veteran center, continue to run 1-2 in National Hockey League scoring, according to league statistics released Monday.

Orr remains on top with 41 points on eight goals and a league-leading 33 assists while Goyette is two points back with 14 goals and 25 assists.

Walt Tkaczuk of the New York Rangers trails in third place with 34 points. The Rangers center has 13 goals and 21 assists.

Gordie Howe Leads Detroit To 5-2 Win

Rookie Gets Three Goal as Chicago Downs Philadelphia

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Man is at it again.

Gordie Howe who scored 44 goals last season but didn't manage any against Montreal, reminded the Canadiens that he's still around the National Hockey League.

Howe, playing his 24th NHL season at the age of 41, scored two goals and Frank Mahovlich also notched a pair, leading Detroit to a 5-2 victory over the Canadiens.

The two goals ran Howe's career total to 745 — 201 more than Montreal's immortal Maurice Richard, who still holds second place on the all-time scoring list.

In other games Sunday night, Toronto topped New York, 3-1; Boston edged Pittsburgh 2-1; and Chicago trimmed Philadelphia 4-1.

Howe's two goals ran his total for the season to 13 and the big right winger twice narrowly missed collecting a third goal.

Came on Rebounds

Both of Mahovlich's goals came on rebounds of Howe's shots stopped by Montreal's Roger Vachon. Howe, Mahovlich and their center, Alex Delvecchio, accounted for 16 of the 34 shots the Red Wings took at Vachon. Wayne Connelly had Detroit's other goal.

The loss dropped the Canadiens into third place in the East Division behind Boston. Montreal remained four points behind the pace-setting Rangers, who also lost.

Boston used a goal by defenseman Gary Doak to break a second period tie and then held on to beat Pittsburgh.

Doak, the Bruins' fifth defenseman, was taking his first turn of the night with both teams a man short when he carried a shot off Penguin goalie.

Obituaries

Goldie Bay

206 Main Ave., Kaukauna

Age 75, passed away at 3:30 p.m. after a lingering illness.

She was born March 17, 1894 in Kaukauna and was a lifelong resident.

She was treasurer, member of the board and receptionist for the Kaukauna Dairy Company for 50 years. The only survivors are nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday from the Kaukauna Methodist Church with the Rev. Lester Ott officiating.

Burial will be in the Kaukauna Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home and at 10:30 a.m. from St. Patrick Catholic Church, Rev. Lambert D. Scanlon officiating.

Interment will be in St. Margaret Cemetery, Neenah. Friends may call at the Kessler Funeral Home from 4 until 9 p.m. Wednesday where the rosary will be prayed at 7 p.m. Wednesday evening.

Charles J. Frey

248 Grant St., Neenah

Age 77, passed away Monday afternoon following a lengthy illness.

At Smith's stick and into the net for Boston's game-winner.

Just over a minute before Doak scored Derek Sanderson had tied the score for Boston.

Ken Schinkel had the Penguins goal.

Bruce Gamble kicked out 38 New York shots and Toronto ended a four-game losing streak by knocking off the Rangers.

It was only the second loss in the last 17 games for New York, still two points in front in the East race.

Mike Walton set up a goal by Brit Selby and then scored one of his own to bring Toronto from behind in the second period.

Norm Ullman had the Leafs' final goal in the last period. Bill Fairbairn scored New York's only goal.

Rookie Cliff Koroll scored three goals and Bobby Hull had his seventh of the year as Chicago rapped Philadelphia.

Koroll scored two of his goals, 42 seconds apart in the third period as the Black Hawks finally busted through against Doug Favell.

Favell, playing only his fourth game of the season in the Flyers' net, kicked out 33 shots.

Denis DeJordy, making his first start in goal for Chicago, since Oct. 22, blocked 23 Philadelphia shots but lost his shut-out with less than six minutes to play when Andre Lacroix scored for the Flyers.

Warren L. Johnson

Rt. 1, Larson

Age 54, passed away unexpectedly at 3:05 p.m. Monday.

He was a veteran of World War II. Survivors are his wife, Audra Bell Johnson; two daughters, Mrs. Larry (Judy Jean) Seeley, River Falls, Joanie, at home; one son, James, Rockford, Ill.; his mother, Mrs. Bessie Johnson, Rt. 1, Larson; seven sisters, Mrs. Robert Raussin, Florissant, Missouri; Mrs. Marjorie Moehring, Carnegie, Penn.; Mrs. Eileen Pietrowski, Rt. 1, Larson; Mrs. Ray Sannes, Milwaukee; Mrs. Robert Page, Larson; Mrs. Norman Miller, Neenah; Mrs. James Wunderlich, Appleton; four brothers, Robert and Ronald, Larson, Darold, Greys Lake, Ill., Gordon, Berlin; one grandson. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. from the Grace Lutheran Church, the Rev. Vernon Kessler officiating. Burial will be in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Westgro Funeral Home after 4 p.m. Wednesday and at the church after noon on Thursday. A memorial fund has been established.

Mrs. August J. Goffin

(Ida)

116 East Orange St.

Age 83, passed away unexpectedly at 8:30 p.m. Monday evening.

She was born July 3, 1886 in Robinsonville, Wisconsin. She had been an Appleton resident for the past 36 years. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Fred (Arlene) Booth; one son, Cyril, both of Appleton; two brothers, Fred Duprey, Appleton; George Duprey, Kaukauna; two sisters, Mrs. Roy (Laura Beson, Appleton; Mrs. Ed (Clara) Schneider, Menasha; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Her husband and two sons, Herman and Harold preceded her in death. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. from Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Burial in St. Mary Cemetery. Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral Home from 3 until 9 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday morning until the hour of service. Prayer service will be held at the funeral home at 8 p.m. Wednesday evening.

Herbert H. Grahl

Fond du Lac, Wis.

Father of Mrs. William B. Beyer, 514 N. Union St., Appleton, died Saturday.

Survivors are Mr. and Mrs. Beyer, five grandchildren; two brothers and four sisters. Funeral services were held at 1:30 p.m. today, December 16th at Tabor United Methodist Church at Eden with burial in Empire Cemetery.

Howard P. Heup

320 Oak St., Menasha

Mayor

City Clerk

City Hall

Appleton, Wisconsin 54911

Dear Mr. Broehm:

Pursuant to the authority vested in me as Mayor by the State Statutes of Wisconsin I am giving the action of the Common Council taken at the meeting of December 4, 1969, recorded on December 10, 1969, in the minutes of the City of Appleton is hereby voted in its entirety. I have the following objections:

1. The budget in total exceeds a 2% increase in the gross tax levy and this can be rectified with no dollar reductions in the amount of the levy.

2. The proper utilization of personnel and space requirements was exceeded when the council ignored the recommendation of the Finance Committee in adopting the welfare administrative budget.

3. Certain areas of capital outlay could be reduced and/or eliminated in line with the recent council action which dictated a "pay-as-you-go" time as a capital improvement program is adopted.

Very Truly Yours,

Torrijos Grabs Back Power In Panama

National Guard Sides With General Against Coup Chiefs

PANAMA (AP) — Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos, deposed as the strong man of Panama, regained power today with the support of loyal officers and troops of the National Guard.

Torrijos, who took over from a civilian regime 14 months ago, was removed from the top command of the National Guard, and thus the nation's leadership, on Monday while he was on a weekend social visit to Mexico City.

But he returned to the city of David in western Panama early today by plane and immediately won the support of the National Guard garrison there.

Colonels Arrested
Then the National Guard in this capital threw its support to him and reliable sources here said this garrison arrested the two colonels who led the coup against Torrijos. Other garrisons around the country fell into line.

Torrijos' arrival in this capital was reported as imminent.

The two leaders of the coup—Col. Ramiro Silvera and Col. Amado Sanjurj—were reported in jail.

A witness said he saw Silvera being taken away from the guard headquarters, handcuffed and under military escort. This followed shooting inside the guard headquarters which broke out about 8:40 a.m.

There were no immediate reports of casualties.

General Staff
An informant said National Guard headquarters was under the command of Lt. Col. Alejandro Arauz, intelligence chief of the guard's general staff.

Troops of the elite Tocumen airport garrison on the outskirts of the city took over the headquarters. Witnesses reported that about five truckloads of troops arrived at headquarters in downtown Panama City just before the shooting started.

The return of Torrijos to power came after businessmen in Panama City took the occasion of his ouster to call for a return to civilian rule.

Nixon Wants Morton in GOP Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced personally today that, at his request, Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland will remain as Republican national chairman, forsaking a possible Senate bid in 1970.

After Nixon spoke to newsmen, Morton plugged Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr., and C. Stanley Blair of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's staff as possible alternative Senate candidates to challenge the Democrat incumbent, Joseph D. Tydings.

Nixon said his decision to ask Morton to remain at the helm of the national committee was "a very close one." But he pictured Morton as one of the most outstanding GOP chairmen ever and said he is needed in the post because "he is presenting a positive picture of the Republican Party across the nation."

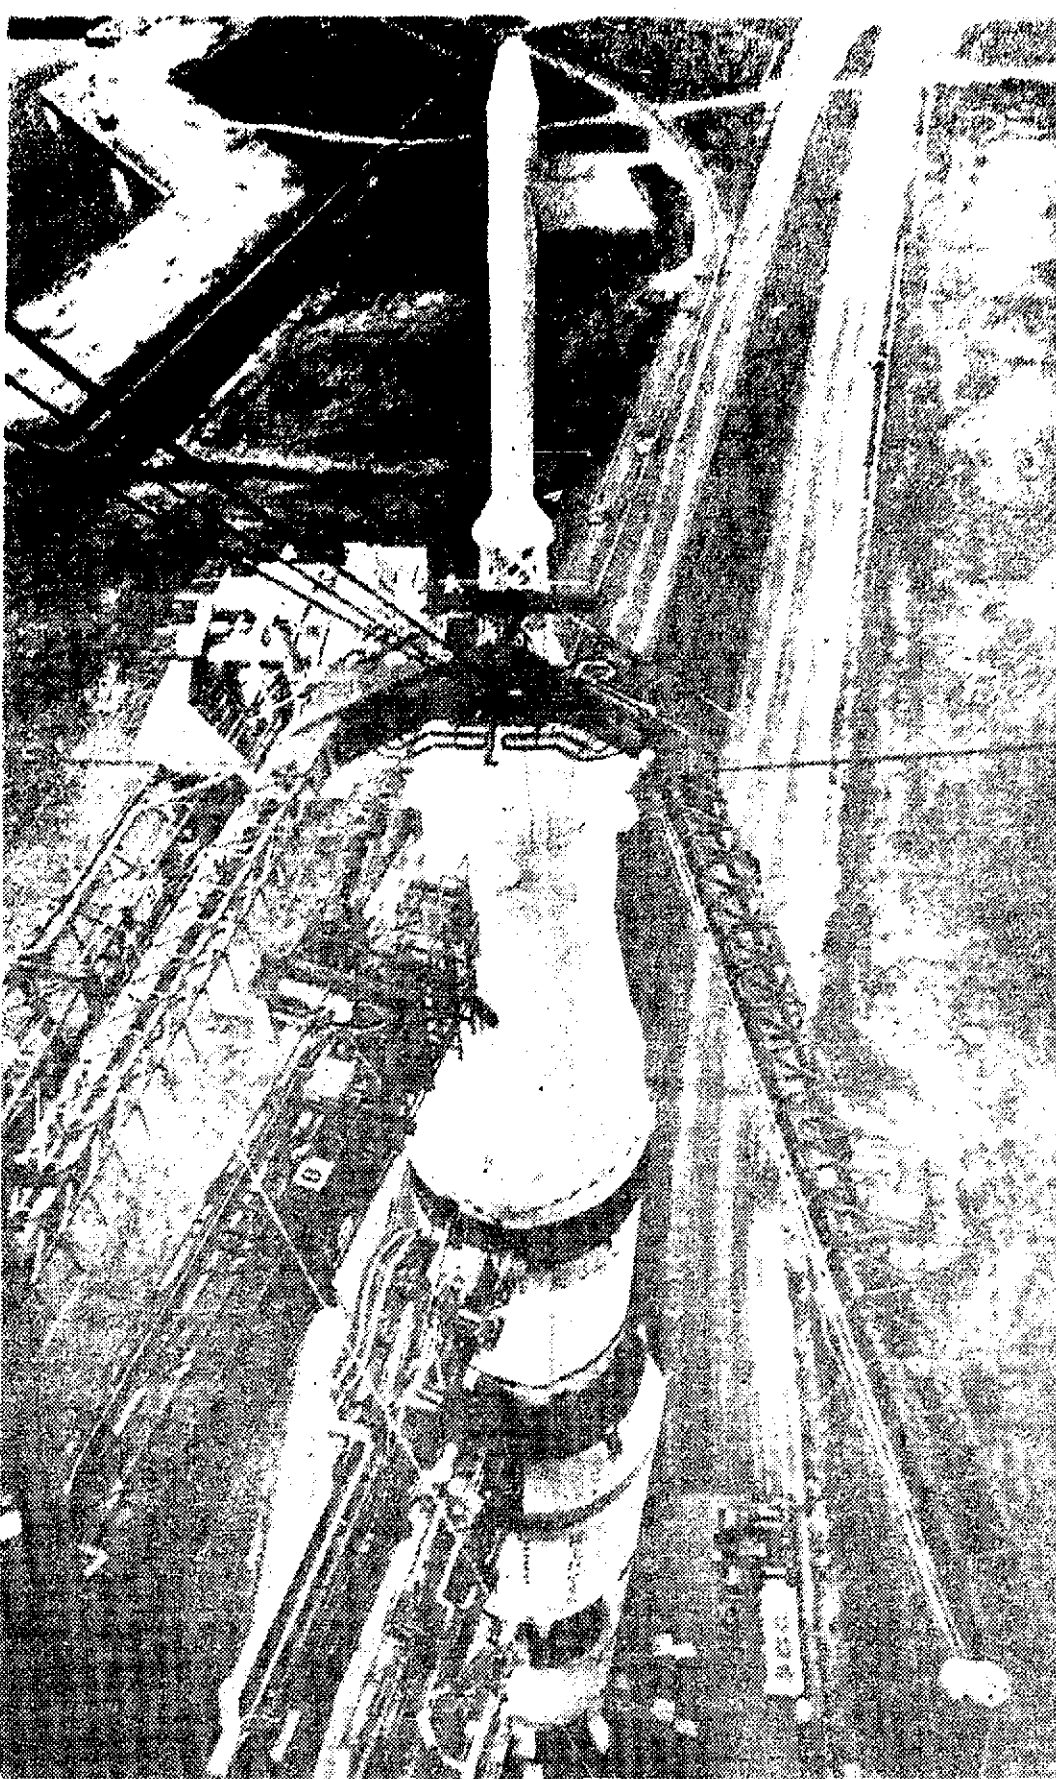

Morton, who had just met with Nixon, said he felt he and the President had independently reached the same conclusion—that he remain as national chairman.

The towering 6-foot-6 Morton said the biggest factor from his standpoint was "my basic commitment to the party and the national committee—and to my district."

Picture Shows My Lai Villagers With Guns

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — A picture of armed women and young boys said to be part of a Viet Cong unit operating out of the My Lai area just before an alleged massacre by U.S. troops was published in today's editions of a Columbus newspaper.

The photograph was released by an Army officer who was with the 11th Infantry Brigade at the time of the alleged massacre and who is now on duty at Ft. Benning, according to the Columbus Enquirer.

The unidentified officer, who gave the picture to the newspaper, said the photograph came from film captured from a Viet Cong base camp near My Lai about two weeks before the March 16, 1968, raid by U.S. Army troops.

The photograph was published on the day of a scheduled pre-trial hearing in the case of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who has been charged by the Army with the premeditated murder of 110 Vietnam civilians—109 of them at My Lai.

Lt. Col. Reid Kennedy, a military judge who will preside over the trial of Calley, called today's hearing to determine whether his order prohibiting witnesses from discussing the alleged massacre has been violated.

Kennedy earlier had ordered every prospective witness in the Calley trial not to discuss any information or evidence he might have except with officers of the court or Calley.

Fair Trial

Attorneys on both sides of the case have protested that news media coverage of reports concerning the My Lai incident have made it impossible for Calley to receive a fair trial, but the U.S. Court of Military Appeals declined to ban interviews with witnesses or publication of photographs of the My Lai action.

The officer who gave the picture to the Columbus newspaper—identified only as a man who served with the 11th Infantry Brigade as a field commander and later as a staff officer—said the photograph was developed by bridge public information officers.

Intelligence Officers
He said copies were given to intelligence officers, who later identified some members of the Viet Cong unit, with the help of a South Vietnamese government agent.

Most of the persons pictured were wearing Vietnamese peasant garb, but had a uniform symbol of field hat with burlap camouflage.

The officer said intelligence officers decided the picture had been taken a few weeks before the film was captured, and that the presence of women and boys apparently was due to the Viet Cong need of replacements for losses suffered during the Tet offensive.

There are some who believe, Nixon said, "that to continue U. S. support in the background." The recommendation is in line with Nixon's stated policy.

Winning Position

Nixon did not say he agrees that a "winning position" has been achieved. But White House officials did not quarrel with the assessment.

Nixon said, however, "there is one disturbing new element in the situation."

"Enemy infiltration has increased substantially. It has not yet reached the point where our military leaders believe the enemy has developed the capability to mount a major offensive, but we are watching the situation closely to see whether it could develop to that extent."

His choice of an April 15 target date to complete the new troop withdrawal, officials said, gives him more flexibility to assess—and if necessary adjust to—a Communist offensive and still meet his withdrawal deadline. His advisers believe that if North Vietnam launches an offensive it will come in the January-March period.

Take Risks
"There are some who believe," Nixon said, "that to continue U. S. support in the background." The recommendation is in line with Nixon's stated policy.

Optimistic

At the same time he said he had received "cautiously optimistic" reports from observers and from U. S. civilian and military leaders in Vietnam. He quoted from a report made to him by one observer, Sir Robert Thompson, a British veteran of anti-Communist warfare in Southeast Asia, who was, Nixon said, earlier pessimistic about the conduct of the war.

"A winning position in the sense of obtaining a just peace (whether negotiated or not) and of maintaining an independent, non-Communist South Vietnam has been achieved, but we are not yet through," Nixon quoted Thompson as saying.

Thompson recommended carrying on a "do it yourself" policy for South Vietnam with "continuing U. S. support in the background." The recommendation is in line with Nixon's stated policy.

50,000 Troops Being Withdrawn Cut Over 4-Month Period

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is pulling out another 50,000 troops from South Vietnam but over a longer period than he allowed for previous withdrawals, evidently because of the growing possibility of a major new enemy offensive.

Nixon announced his third cutback in a television speech Monday night. He set April 15, four months from now, as the deadline for removing the 50,000. For his two previous withdrawals he had allowed about three months each.

The President coupled his announcement with a renewed warning to North Vietnam that he will take "strong and effective measures" if he finds that "increased enemy action jeopardizes our remaining forces in Vietnam."

He then repeated the warning he had given in his Nov. 3 April 15.

In his broadcast Monday night Nixon used a slightly different set of figures based on maximum authorized strength. That is normally somewhat higher than actual strength. White House officials said.

The ceiling figure when he took office was 549,500. He said with his new order that ceiling "has now been reduced by 115,500 men," indicating the cuts in authorized strength total about 5,500 more men than withdrawals based on real strength.

Nixon called the new reduction in force "another orderly step in our plan for peace in Vietnam."

Burden of Combat
He said he had consulted with U. S. allies in Vietnam before ordering it. In Saigon President Nguyen Van Thieu said it is in

Death at an Early Age

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Vandermeer was an alcoholic at 10, a heroin addict at 11, and dead at 12, the youngest drug death in the city's history.

He was discovered 14 hours later, Baden said, surrounded by a "set of works"—needle, bottle top and two empty heroin packets. He was wearing a Snoopy sweatshirt.

Walter lived with his mother and sister a block away from where his body was found.

Baden said that in investigating the death he had talked with several of Walter's 10- and 11-year-old friends, all of whom "knew he was taking heroin."

"They were pretty unperurbed," Baden said.

"Knowing they will die doesn't prevent them from using heroin," the doctor said. "It's not a logical thing. Part of shooting heroin is that it is a virile thing to do, risking death is virile, the forbidden thing is attractive."

He said children like this are not normal or healthy, that even if there were no heroin, they would still be antisocial.

"It isn't just poverty or legal enforcement," Baden said. "Some people are mentally ill. The white guys like this end up in hippie communes."

One-quarter of the city's 800 heroin deaths this year have been teen-agers, Baden said. "Of these more than 50 were 16 or younger," Walter was the youngest by far.

Children are using heroin "like marijuana because of peer-group pressure," Baden said. "In the past six months we have had a tremendous increase."

Declaration by Blacks

Unofficial Curfew Bars Whites in Chicago Areas

CHICAGO (AP) — Spokesmen reaction to the deaths Dec. 4 of a coalition of black groups in two Illinois Black Panther party Chicago proclaimed Monday an leaders, Fred Hampton, 21, and Mark Clark, 22, who were shot from Negro areas of the city during a raid by police searching for illegal weapons.

Vivian said, "No whites will be permitted to enter the black community during these hours."

The Rev. C.T. Vivian and community during these hours and those who are in the black in the name of the newly-created community will be expected to leave by the 6 p.m. deadline."

He said the new front includes the group he leads, the Coalition for United Community Action.

Opposition also came from the American Civil Liberties Union, which was listed as one of the United Front organizations. Jay A. Miller, Chicago ACLU president, said the curfew "is contrary to our policy of supporting the right of free movement."

Mayor Richard J. Daley said he would guarantee free passage in all areas of the city, adding the curfew would only further polarize the races. His statement was backed by the police superintendent and the Cook County sheriff. Black publisher Gus Savage who is running as an independent for Congress opposed the curfew, saying, "Racism in the hands of blacks is just as dangerous as racism in the hands of whites."

Dr. Charles G. Hurst Jr., president of Malcolm X Community College, said the curfew call was "irresponsible" and said the United Front "probably doesn't represent 20 people."

Hurst has been under fire since he called for self-defense training for the black community after the shooting of Hampton and Clark.

Shiocton Taxes Up 1st Time Since 1966

Board Adopts $2.50 Rate Hike

SHIOCTON — A 1970 budget of $50,673, but revenue of $50,490 are expected to offset reduction by the board is the tax rate has been approved by the Village Board. The package sets the tax at $41 per $1,000 assessed valuation and is the first hike since 1966.

The board, at a recent meeting, approved a 1970 spending package of $59,191, which is $10,175 more than the current budget of $78,925.

The budget was approved without any dissent from local taxpayers.

The tax rate is based on the village's new assessed valuation of $2,173,132, which is $123,196 higher than the valuation based for the present rate. The valuation hike is the result of new homes and the assessor boosting valuations throughout the village, as was urged by village officials.

The major expenditures are for educational purposes. The educational portion amounts to $61,156, an increase of $5,673 over the current allotment. The local school budget will cost $56,422 while funds for Vocational, Technical and Adult Education Dist. 12 are $3,292 and the State Trust Fund Loans $1,448.

State and Outagamie County taxes amount to $16,255, up $2,266 from the current budget. Village spending is budgeted

Wants Legislators 'Off the Hook'

Froehlich's Proposal on Salaries Draws Fire

MADISON (AP) — When Wisconsin legislators decided two years ago they didn't like voting on their own salary increases, a few lawmakers complained the majority wanted to "get off the hook."

Now the complaint is being raised again.

Pending legislation would expand powers of the Legislative Compensation Council to include salaries of judges and state constitutional officers.

The measure is sponsored by Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton, who said salaries of constitutional officers and judges — as well as legislators — shall be reviewed annually by an outside agency.

Under the 1967 law, the 133 lawmakers surrendered their authority to vote on their own salaries to a six-member legislative compensation council and the 14-member Joint Finance Committee of the legislature.

Bipartisan Opposing

The council makes annual studies and recommends what it considers to be adequate compensation. The Joint Finance Committee then takes final action.

Froehlich's proposal, which cleared the Assembly State Affairs Committee on an 82 vote, now is pending before the Joint Finance Committee. And it is

Board Action Sought

Referendum on Executive?

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Petitions were being circulated today calling on the Outagamie County Board to either create the position of elected county executive or call a referendum on the question in 1970.

Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich of Appleton and Outagamie County Board Supv. G. Allen Bubolz, also of Appleton, jointly prepared the petitions which were being sent out this morning.

Froehlich said that a formal organization would be set up.

A total of 6,333 signatures would be needed to force County Board action. Froehlich said that he and Bubolz wanted to certify the petitions no later than Feb. 6 but hoped to get a sufficient signatures by the Jan. 13 County Board meeting.

If the County Board would act to create the position of elected executive at either the January or February meetings the petition would be withdrawn.

Bubolz said that the main reason for getting the petitions out now was to encourage the board to take positive action in January.

Froehlich said that his position had been that counties needed strong political leaders to move county government into a position of leadership for the future. This, he added, can be accomplished with an elected executive.

Bubolz, who was instrumental in getting an executive resolution before the board earlier this month, said "the business of the county is growing. This is obvious to anyone who has followed the activity of the County Board."

He added, "Because county government is moving into the picture rapidly, it ought to be represented by an executive elected at large."

Equal Treatment

"All I want to do is treat all elective officers equally," the speaker said. "Their salaries should be subject to periodic review."

He noted that salaries of most state employees are reviewed annually.

The Joint Finance Committee, which may consider Froehlich's bill in January, recently approved, 7-2, a bill to raise the salaries of all constitutional officers. It calls for hiking the governor's pay from $25,000 a year to $30,000, and the lieutenant governor's from $7,500 to $15,000.

The measure was endorsed by the Joint Finance Committee over objections from Rep. Byron Wackett, R-Watertown, committee co-chairman, who argued that a cut in salaries might be in order.

"Maybe," said Wackett, "we'll get back to the idea that serving in public office is an honor and not a means for making a living."

Woman Dies From Injuries Mrs. J. R. Schertz Is Waupaca County's 15th Traffic Fatality

WAUPACA — Mrs. Joseph R. (Anna) Schertz, 61, route 2, Ticeron, died at Theda Clark Hospital, Neenah, Monday morning, becoming Waupaca County's 15th traffic fatality.

County Coroner Sam Salan advised Capt. John P. Penney, of the county traffic patrol, that Mrs. Schertz's death was attributed to an accident which occurred Nov. 25 in the City of Marion. She received a broken pelvis in the accident which also took the life of her husband Joseph R. Schertz, 76, who died Dec. 1.

Earlier this month the coroner classified Schertz's death as a coronary thrombosis caused by the accident. It was the county's 13th traffic fatality.

The Schertzes were injured when their car, driven by Schertz, collided with an auto driven by Marvin G. Werth, 50, 425 Emerson St., Burlington, at U. S. 45 and N. E. 7th St. in Marion.

Werth and his son, Thomas, 16, a passenger were not injured in the crash. The accident occurred when the Schertz car, which was stopped on 7th St. at the intersection, suddenly pulled out in front of Werth. The traffic report states that the Werth car left 168 feet of skid marks on the highway but the driver was unable to avoid the collision.

Clintonville Clubs Plan Winter Fete

CLINTONVILLE — The 8th annual American Legion-Lions Club winter carnival will be Feb. 22 at the Municipal air port.

Plans for the carnival were discussed Thursday night at the meeting of the American Legion Post No. 63 at the Veterans Memorial Building. Featured this year will be an air show, snowmobile rally and fisherie. Prizes to be awarded include a snowmobile, portable television, AM-FM radio, and many smaller prizes. Tickets will be $1 and will be available from both Legion and Lions members.

The American Legion voted to donate $25 to the Sue Kautz Trust Fund, which is being established to help pay expenses incurred by Miss Kautz, who has been in intensive care at Theda Clark hospital since being severely burned in a car accident Oct. 4.

The auxiliary met Thursday night and a contribution was made to the Clintonville Goodfellows Association. Tray favors for December and January and boxed Christmas cards have been delivered to King.

Members of the Legion and auxiliary had lunch after their separate meetings. Mrs. William Hurley was chairman of the serving committee.

Yule Party for Retarded Held by Clintonville K of C

CLINTONVILLE — The Msgr. John J. Loerke Council No. 1922, Knights of Columbus, was host to the countywide Christmas party for the exceptional children and adults Sunday afternoon at the St. Rose School hall. Approximately 300 persons attended.

In previous years, the Waupaca County Association for Retarded Children sponsored a Christmas party.

Staff members and all the Boy and Girl Scouts who assisted at Day Camp last summer helped with the entertainment Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Clifford Rafoth, who is vice president of the Waupaca County association, was chairman of the entertainment.

The afternoon was spent in playing games and dancing and singing, followed by refreshments served by the Knights of Columbus. Patrick Soulat was chairman. Gerard Mares is Grand Knight.

To close the party, Santa Claus made his appearance and presented a gift and a bag of candy to each of the 125 special guests present.

Altar Society Elects Officers

SHERWOOD — Mrs. Cornelius Vanden Boom advanced to president of Sacred Heart Christian Mothers — Altar Society Thursday. She had previously served as vice president. Mrs. Alois Nettekoven was chosen vice president and Mrs. Ralph Probst, secretary. Mrs. Mark Buchinger will continue as treasurer. All officers serve two-year terms.

Five new members were enrolled in the society. They are: Mrs. Edward Ashauer, Mrs. Allen Eldred, Mrs. Daniel Se-korski, Mrs. James Propson and Mrs. Francis Dietzen.

A Christmas party with exchange of gifts followed the business meeting attended by 80 members.

200 Attend Hilbert Meeting on Bonding

HILBERT — About 200 persons turned out for the public informational meeting Monday night at the high school here regarding the $770,000 bonding referendum today.

Polling hours are from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the basement of the elementary school for all areas of the district.

Supt. Richard Yenchosky explained the study made by the administration and the board of education leading to the decision to propose building an elementary school instead of a high school and the two-day inspection study made by the Department of Public Instruction before the recommendation that elementary facilities here were the priority.

Before the meeting, electors were given a tour of the 52-year-old elementary school, which many had attended in their youth.

Questions Answered

Those attending were given cards to write questions. Forty questions, some with multiple questions, were answered. Also present were Michael Dougherty, financial consultant, of Springstead and Associates, St. Paul, and Carl Pruess of Marshall Erdman — Associates, Madison, designer of the proposed 14-classroom facility the district is proposing to build.

It was explained that the district was able to afford to build the new facility planned for a maximum of 400 pupils.

Reorganization also was discussed with officials, who said they could make no plans for the destiny of a high school in Hilbert, but from the trend believed that consolidation was in the not-too-distant future. Other questions relating to the proposed new school and use of present facilities were answered.

If approved today, the new facility will amount to $4 per ed.

though a 20-year plan is proposed by using the "drop-off" technique, the district will save $51,227 on increased interest by paying in 16 years. The cost of the building is guaranteed not to exceed the figures quoted, Carl Pruess of Marshall Erdman told the group. The new facility could be ready for use by September, 1970.

Those asking about building a new gymnasium were told that school officials felt that the academic side of education should come first, with extra-curricular next. Cost of a new gym was estimated at $250,000. New facilities would not improve the quality of the education because the school would still have the same number of students and the same teachers, many not teaching in their major fields and having from four to six preparations a day.

Board Confident

At the board meeting which preceded the informational session, panel members said they were confident that the bonding issue would go through. When asked what would happen if the issue lost, it was explained that the district would be forced to resort to temporary or mobile use of space.

Consolidation might be considered again or they would propose the bonding issue again. A new high school was not in the plans because the district could not afford one.

Reorganization also was discussed with officials, who said they could make no plans for the destiny of a high school in Hilbert, but from the trend believed that consolidation was in the not-too-distant future. Other questions relating to the proposed new school and use of present facilities were answered.

The school currently has 248 high school students and 235 elementary students. If new elementary facilities are approved, utilization of some of the old building will be made for a library and possibly some classes which are now housed in the science, business education and home economics rooms, allowing students to use those rooms for additional experiments, typing and other extra-credit work. High school students were more mature and would be able to deal with emergency situations which young children could not in the old facilities, and there would not be overcrowdedness, it was explained.

Slides illustrating plans of the proposed new school were shown.

Children Send Cards To Vietnam

WAUPACA — Among the Christmas cards being sent throughout the world this year will be some special ones bound for American troops, the 35th Combat Supply Group in Vietnam.

They are for the men who might not otherwise receive cards this Christmas, each signed by members of the Girl Scout Troop No. 62 at King and 7th and 8th graders, St. Patrick's Church, Lanard.

The cards are being mailed through the Waupaca Red Cross Chapter to a Red Cross clubmobile unit with the 35th. Mrs. Dan Passarella, route 2, Almond, is sponsor of the project.

"With the cards go the hope that they will be a tremendous morale booster," says Mrs. Passarella. "There is much debate as to whether the war is just or unjust. This debate is certain to have its effect on our troops who have to fight the war. It is our hope that a gesture like this from American youngsters will give our servicemen in Vietnam the big lift they so richly deserve."

As the children assembled and signed the cards, they expressed the wish that the men would understand and would also send a reply.

Grade School Plans Program In Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — The children in grades 1-4 of St. Martin Lutheran School will present their Christmas program, "God Loves Me Dearly," at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 23 at the St. Martin Lutheran Church.

A service of lessons and carols will be held at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 24 at the St. Martin Lutheran Church. The mixed choir, male chorus and children's chorus will present numbers appropriate to the scripture lessons of prophecy and fulfillment of Christ's birth.

On Christmas Day, services at St. Martin will be at 8 and 10:30 a.m. Using Luke 2:12 as his text, the Rev. Darwin L. Karsten's sermon for Christmas Day will deal with "The Sign of Bethlehem."

Special Christmas anthems will be sung by the St. Martin choirs at these festival services.
